AXIS SALLY SENTENCED TO 10 YEARS

Rally to Back Substitute Vets' Pension Bill

Would Broaden Old Plan

House Members Ask 'Need Basis'

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Rep. Rankin (D-Miss.) today introduced a new veterans pension bill limited to ex-servicemen of World War One.

★

WASHINGTON — (UP) — A group of House members, who helped kill the Rankin pension bill, rallied today around a substitute plan to aid veterans.

These members said they favor liberalizing the existing regulations under which most 65-year-old veterans of both World wars, who are in need, can get pensions of from $60 to $72 a month.

"That is the way it should have been handled in the first place," said Rep. Walter B. Huber (D-O), who was a leader in the open revolt of the House veterans committee against its chairman, Rep. John E. Rankin (D-Miss).

Under the original Rankin bill, all 65-year-old veterans of World Wars I and II would have received $90 monthly pensions, whether they needed them or not.

The House yesterday voted, 208 to 207, to send the Rankin bill back to the veterans committee after whacking it to pieces with amendments. Its action was regarded as tantamount to killing the measure.

TRUMAN HAPPY

President Truman said the House vote made him very happy. The administration was opposed to the Rankin proposal from the start because of its cost.

Whether anything comes of the new Huber bloc pension plan depends to a large extent on Rankin. He told newsmen he sees no need for further committee study of any pension program.

But Huber pointed out that, in rejecting the Rankin bill, the House sent it back to the committee "for further study." He said committee members should take that directive literally.

Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers, (Mass), ranking GOP committee member, said she is sorry the Rankin bill didn't pass. She said she intends to continue her efforts to get the House to approve some form of pension plan because "a lot of people need it."

Another committee member, Rep. Olin Teague (D-Tex), Purple Heart veteran of World War II, said he, too, feels the committee should take another crack at a pension bill. Teague made the motion that killed the bill. When he asked for "further study," he said, he meant just that.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, meanwhile, gave a clean bill of health to House members who voted against the Rankin bill. A spokesman for the organization, second largest veterans' group, said the measure was in such bad shape that the House action was justified.

Reveal Spy Directives

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The House un-American Activities committee says the Russians have assigned "several spy rings" to atomic secrets alone.

The committee says it recently uncovered secret orders from abroad to Soviet spy leaders in this country "listing 20-odd categories of information they want on the armed strength of this country."

The committee told of these activities in a pamphlet called "Spotlight On Spies," issued last night.

It omits names of anybody it suspects of espionage.

But it says "you can be sure" that spies are after our government secrets "right now." On the extent of this activity, it says:

"Naturally we can never know the exact size, but former ringleaders have confessed there are thousands of Russian agents, as well as many more thousands of Americans, who are selling us down the river."

Pupils Outdo The Teacher In Tourney

COLUMBUS—(INS)—The only one who didn't win a medal was the teacher.

Pistol Instructor Sgt. John W. Grimm taught his pupils so well that they won honors at the National Midwinter Pistol matches at Tampa, Fla.

However, Grimm, who was the sixth member of the Columbus team, didn't make a passing grade.

City Gets Fire Station Gas Refund

Protest Brings Action By Utility

A refund of $103 was paid the city by The Ohio Fuel Gas company today following a protest by Mayor Roy W. Vaughn and Service-safety Director Earl T. Garrison against charges made by the company for heating No. 5 fire station.

The refund, according to Garrison, is for gas service at the fire station during November and December. According to terms of the gas company's original franchise with the city, the company is to furnish gas free of charge for heating the municipal building and fire stations.

City officials asked for the refund on the advice of City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch. Kalbfleisch said that although the gas company's franchise nominally expired in 1936, it is automatically extended for an indeterminate period or until a new franchise is asked and negotiated.

No. 5 fire station, latest to be added to the city's fire protection facilities, was opened in the fall. It is located on Marion avenue near Cline avenue.

Finds Favor For T-H Law

87 Per Cent Oppose Repeal, Survey Shows

Congressman J. Harry McGregor reported today that 87 per cent of the voters polled in his 17th congressional district opposed outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act.

McGregor said he sent questionnaires to 3,000 persons in the district, which embraces six central Ohio counties: Delaware, Licking, Knox, Richland, Ashland and Coshocton.

Other results of the poll, he added, were:

Fifty-four per cent felt certain amendments should be written into the Taft-Hartley act;

Nine per cent opposed federal control of hospitals;

Ninety-two per cent opposed an immediate return of federal price control and

Fifty-three per cent favored continuation of the Marshall plan as recommended by President Truman.

Among the groups that do not favor T-H law repeal were attorneys, 94 per cent, farmers, 93 per cent labor, 78 per cent, and public officeholders 100 per cent.

BALK AT CLOSED SHOP

Only 13 per cent were in favor of a closed shop requiring an employe to be a union member in order to retain his job, McGregor said. While the entire group against the closed shop totaled 87 per cent, those against it, according to job classifications were newspaper and radio workers, 100 per cent labor, 73 per cent, and attorneys, 97 per cent.

And 92 per cent favor a requirement for both labor and industrial leaders, in contract ne-

2 Freed In Church Dispute

Fracas Aired In City Court

Charges against two men resulting from an argument in the Church of Roseland last Sunday were dismissed today by Municipal Judge H. H. Schettler.

Sylvan M. Donahue, of 729 Geddes street, had been charged with threatening in a menacing manner. The court ruled that Donahue had not made an overt act.

Also freed was Rex Potter, 25, Lexington, R. D. 1, charged with wilfully interrupting and disturbing an assemblage of persons. The charge against him was dismissed on what Judge Schettler termed a "technical point."

Charges against Donahue were filed by Rev. David Mann, pastor of the church. Charges against Potter were filed by Leonard Binion, who was present in the congregation when the two men attempted to hold a business meeting against the pastor's wishes.

ASKED FOR MEETING

Testimony disclosed the request for a business meeting came while the Sunday School services were still officially in session and with the approval of Lesley Morgan, Sunday School superintendent.

Both cases had been combined at the request of the defendant's attorney, William A. Calhoun.

Charges against Donahue, song leader at the church, were dismissed by Judge Schettler, during testimony by Rev. Mann.

The minister told the court he had gone to the pulpit and opened the Bible when he was interrupted by the two men. He testified that Potter came to the pulpit.

"They both said they wanted to have a business meeting to vote me out as pastor," he told the court. He said he then told them "to sit down and shut up or get out."

"Donahue came up with his coat off and told me to step outside," the pastor said. He quoted Donahue as saying: "I want to fight you."

He said he told Donahue to go outside and some "red-blooded member of the congregation" would meet him. Mann then

Grandfather's Long Distance Suit Pays Off

CHICAGO —(U.P.)— Sam Hedge, 60-year-old grandfather, said today he was "knocked dead for joy" when a 30-year-old Viennese beauty contest winner accepted his proposal of marriage during a $25 trans-Atlantic telephone call.

"The first thing Gretta Rauch said was 'Sam, I love you, I love you, I love you'," he said. "Then England butted in. There was some wire trouble. But she said she'd marry me. I was knocked dead for joy."

Hedge became acquainted with Fraulein Rauch's family a year ago when his church gave him the name and address as persons worthy and in need.

"I learned there was a girl in the family and sent her an Easter outfit," he said. "We began exchanging pictures and I fell in love with her."

'Mystery Man' Search Starts

MILWAUKEE — (UP) — A mysterious "key witness" was sought today for questioning about the murder of beautiful Patricia Birmingham, 16-year-old student.

Police Capt. Adolph Kraemer said the witness "developed" during a three-hour interrogation of Milton Babich, 19, who eloped with Patricia's sister, Kathleen, a week ago Thursday.

"It's a man. I have to find where he is. I think he's outside the city. That's all I can say at present."

TRIES PAPER 'BOTTLE'—Mrs. Robert March, 115 Glessner avenue, drinks her morning milk from a paper container. There's a trick to drinking from the new containers, she said. The top must be pushed down flat against the container or the milk will spill.

They Don't Rattle

Milk to Come In Paper 'Bottles'

Those noisy milk bottles that used to break your slumbers in the pre-dawn hours may soon go the way of the horse-drawn milk wagon.

Most Mansfield dairymen said today they had either started using heavy paper containers or were planning to use them.

However, only one Mansfield dairy concern is using them for its house-to-house customers. Others are confining their use to wholesale business.

Isaly Dairy officials said conversion to paper containers for wholesale business would take 30 or 40 days. At present, they said, they have no intention of using the paper bottles for retail business.

Borden's Dairy has been using the paper containers for wholesale business since last November and finds them satisfactory.

Axtell Dairy officials said they had no plans at the present time for using the new-type of containers.

The Page Dairy company started about a month ago to use the paper containers for house-to-house customers, but officials there said customers have a choice of paper containers or glass bottles.

TIME SAVERS

"We have found a number of advantages to the grocer and housewife in the paper bottles," a Page spokesman said. "Paper containers don't have to be washed, they cost the customer nothing and they don't have to be returned for refunds. Then of course there's no threat of broken bottles."

The containers are not being adopted to save money for the dairies, dairymen said.

"A glass bottle costs eight cents, it is true, and a paper container only one cent," an official said, "but a glass bottle can be used time and time again. A paper container must be discarded with each using."

Competition has had a lot to do with the conversion to paper bottles. Out-of-town milk dealers coming into the city have brought their milk in paper containers, Mansfield dairymen said.

One Killed By Tornado

GREENVILLE, Miss. — (INS) — One person was reported killed and two injured today in a tornado which struck twice in Washington county, Miss.

First reports said the fatality, occured at the Tralake community, near Greenville.

At least seven houses were reported badly damaged by the sharp-striking winds which also hit at the Lake Washington community, causing less damage.

This section of Mississippi is in the heart of a tornado belt which extends across Arkansas and up into Oklahoma.

Battle Looms On ERP Costs

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Scott W. Lucas predicted today that a drive to cut Marshall plan spending would be smashed and the $5,580,000,000 renewal bill approved by midnight.

But Sen. Robert A. Taft, R., O., maintained that about $2,000,000,000 in current European recovery funds remains unspent and that half this amount can be trimmed from the new request without damage. Sen. Homer Capehart, R., Ind., set his sights on a $3,000,000,000 cut.

Lucas said he believes a bipartisan coalition will succeed in averting cuts in the overall spending program.

Plants Cutting Schedules

Returning To Pre-War Levels

Mansfield industries are gradually dropping back to pre-war employment levels, an analysis of the city's employment trend indicated today.

While lay-offs in six major factories total more than 800 workers since Jan. 1, only half of the factories reported sizable furlough figures.

Barnes Manufacturing company officials said no workers have been laid off so far this year. The picture remained bright at the Ohio Brass company where 25 were reported laid off and at Empire Steel corporation where 30 have been dropped since the first of the year.

At Westinghouse, where a lay-off of workers is expected, company officials were in conference at noon today to decide on the furlough figure. Pre-war employment at the plant was about 5,000. This month's employment figure at Westinghouse is 7,200.

George L. Draffan, president of Ohio Brass, said the negligible lay-off at the plant was due to a slackening in the company's railway, mining and valve business. He said however, that the company's utility and electric business was "good."

"We don't look for any mass lay-offs," Draffan said, "but we may have a few more individual lay-offs."

PAYS DIVIDEND

Ohio Brass stockholders yesterday received their largest dividend-per-share since April, 1931. The dividend, $1.25 per share, totaled $435,000.

Commenting on the dividend Draffan said: "It just took us

Flowers Show Bloom

Mercury Climbs to Summery 65 Degrees

Mansfield's weather was warm, wet and windy today, just the kind to bring out the flowers and tree buds.

Partly cloudy and a little cooler weather was forecast for tonight and tomorrow.

With the mercury at 65 at noon today, maple trees showed red blossoms, the lilac buds became green and the crocuses blossomed.

Temperatures in Ohio climbed as high as 81 Thursday afternoon at Chesapeake on the Ohio river. Columbus reported 69 and Toledo a cool 48. Mansfield's high yesterday was 62 and the low last night, 52.

The five-day forecast for this area follows:

Temperatures will average about eight degrees above normal for the period. Cooler Saturday. Warmer Sunday and Monday and cooler again Tuesday. Showers Monday and probably Wednesday. Total precipitation about one inch.

To Lay Off 1,500

DETROIT — (AP) — The Burroughs Adding Machine company today announced a layoff of 1,500 employes, effective April 1.

Burroughs said the layoff, combined with a layoff of 522 employes last month, will "stabilize and balance" its post-war employment.

Wyman Captures 'Oscar'

HOLLYWOOD — (UP) — Jane Wyman, a Missouri song-and-dance girl, and Sir Laurence Olivier, a knighted Britisher, were the new "king and queen of the movies" today.

Their coronation last night as the "best actress" and "best actor" of the year came as a surprise to practically nobody at the 21st annual academy award ceremonies.

Wyman

The experts had them pegged for months as top favorites in the "Oscar" derby. Sir Laurence won the coveted award for his "Hamlet," which received five citations, including best picture of the year.

Miss Wyman, who used to play beautiful but dumb chorines, switched to a deaf-and-dumb role in "Johnny Belinda" and won hands down.

Pert and beautiful in a clinging white gown, she picked up her skirts and ran down the aisle as the microphone blared out "best actress . . . Jane Wyman" to a wildly cheering audience of 950 Hollywood celebrities.

Olivier

"For once I get an award for keeping my mouth shut," she gasped, clutching the shining "Oscar" to her bosom. "So I'll keep it shut now, too."

The rest of the awards went as everybody expected them to—right down the line.

Walter Huston was named the best supporting actor of the year for his toothless role as the be-whiskered prospector in "Treasure of the Sierra Madre."

Claire Trevor, the lady tippler in "Key Largo" toted home an "Oscar" for that role.

And John Huston, who told papa Walter how he wanted him to act in "Treasure of the Sierra Madre" won two awards for that picture—one for the best director of the year and another for the best screenplay.

100 Die In Ship Blast

CANTON—(AP)—The motorship Miss Orient exploded today, after striking a mine, killing an estimated 100 persons.

The ship was en route from here to the British crown colony of Hong Kong. The explosion occurred six miles east of Canton.

A dispatch from Hong Kong said there were 500 passengers aboard.

Pirates were blamed for laying the mine after the ship's owners refused to pay extortion money to them.

Chinese customs men said among those who survived were Miss Edna Lowrey of College Springs, Iowa, and Mrs. Sarah K. Fong Chuck of San Francisco and Honolulu, wife of the U. S. vice consul here.

Woman Found Dead In Home

Mrs. Amanda Saltzgaber, 95, State Route 545 near the Oakland church, was found dead at her home shortly before 1 p. m. today, Richland County Coroner Dr. D. C. Lavender reported.

She was discovered dead by a nephew, Lloyd Redding, who lives near her home. The coroner said the exact cause of death had not been determined but there was evidence she had injured herself in a fall.

Funeral arrangements are being completed by the Finefrock funeral home. She is survived by several nieces and nephews.

Escapes Death Penalty

$10,000 Fine Also Imposed

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Mildred E. (Axis Sally) Gillars today was sentenced to 10 to 30 years in prison for treason.

Federal Judge Edward M. Curran also fined her $10,000. Loss of citizenship is automatic on conviction of treason.

Miss Gillars, 48-year-old Maine-born woman, was convicted March 10. Sentence was delayed until her attorneys could argue motions for a new trial.

Just before passing sentence, Judge Curran denied these motions.

Miss Gillars broadcast the "Axis Sally" programs of the nazi radio during the war. Her treason conviction was based on the broadcast of one propaganda drama called "Vision of Invasion."

Before passing sentence, Judge Curran remarked the trial evidence showed Miss Gillars did not take part in high level nazi propaganda policy conferences as was the case of Douglas Chandler and Robert Henry Best.

Chandler and Best were other Americans who gave propaganda aid to the Germans. They were tried for treason at Boston and sentenced to life.

"You are now going on 49, is that correct?" Judge Curran asked. "Yes," Miss Gillars replied.

The judge then pronounced the sentence.

TRIAL PLEA FAILS

First, Curran, after denying the motion for a new trial, directed that Miss Gillars to stand up. He asked her if she cared to say anything, explaining that she did not have to do so.

She immediately launched into a long statement which the judge called an argument.

He said he did not want her to make an argument, commenting that her attorney, James J. Laughlin, already had done that.

She said several times, "I don't understand" how the jury convicted her.

Miss Gillars was convicted of one of the eight alleged treasonable acts on which the government offered evidence. Evidence was presented on two others set forth in the indictment.

The "Vision of Invasion" was broadcast by the nazis a month before the Allies landed in Normandy.

Miss Gillars portrayed Evelyn, an Ohio mother who dreamed her son was killed in the invasion.

Asks Action On Gaming

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Rep. Walter G. Penry, R., Delaware, today asked Gov. Frank J. Lausche why action has not been taken against the mayors of Cincinnati and Cleveland for permitting "organized horserace handbooks."

The Ohio legislator put the question to the governor in a letter seeking information on what action Lausche contemplated if the General assembly approves his request for authority to remove sheriffs, as well as mayors for failure to enforce gambling laws.

"In seeking added political authority over local officials, is it your intention to exercise that power, if it is granted, on your own initiative or upon request from local interest groups?" Penry asked.

"Is there any special reason why you have never used the authority you now have against the chief executives of the cities of Cincinnati and Cleveland where organized horse-race handbooks have notoriously operated while you have been in office as governor?" he continued.

She's Upset, He's Wet!

Writer Given Soup 'Bath'

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—A lady photographer splashed a bowl of the Senate's famous bean soup all over a gentleman columnist in the Senate restaurant yesterday. She didn't like the way he criticized her pictures of great men in Congress.

The soup-slinger was Marion Carpenter, an athletic brunette who has been making free-lance portraits of big-wig senators and congressmen.

On the wet end of the soup was Globe Syndicate columnist Tris Coffin, who wore a new brown corduroy jacket for the occasion.

Miss Carpenter carried out her end of the affair in business-like fashion. She took a seat alongside Coffin in the senate restaurant and ordered a bowl of bean soup. The waiter placed it down. She picked it up and sloshed it into Coffin's face.

Then she stalked out of the room.

She explained that Coffin had upset her by writing in his column that she "teased" congressmen into fancy poses.

Coffin was too wet to comment immediately.

Permane Injured

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. — (AP) — Jockey Bobby Permane, who broke a leg and a collarbone yesterday in a bad spill from his mount in the fourth race at Gulfstream park, today was described as in "poor" condition.

Squat Boxers Clash Tonight

NEW YORK — (AP) — Jake Lamotta and Robert Villemain, a couple of short, squat middleweights, will clash tonight in a Madison Square Garden 12-rounder that should bring representatives of the Red Cross on the run.

Both battlers bled enough in their last outings to keep a plasma bank going for a week. Villemain, the former French welterweight champion, required 16 stitches in losing his American debut to socking Steve Belloise in the garden Jan. 7.

Lamotta, the one-time iron man of the Bronx, needed 11 stitches after bowing to another gallic gladiator, Laurent Dauthille, in Montreal, Feb. 21.

Ray Fights Tonight

CHICAGO — (INS) — A crowd of 12,000 is expected at Chicago stadium tonight to see welterweight champion Ray Robinson, the 4-to-1 choice, take on troublesome Bobby Lee of Baltimore in a ten round over-the-weight match.

Cincinnati Plans Heavyweight Title Brawl For May 23

CINCINNATI — (INS) — The Cincinnati boxing and wrestling commission calendar today includes a May 23 "championship" 15-round heavyweight match between Joey Maxim and Lee Savold.

Promoter Sam Becker told the commission the match will involve $100,000—$65,000 to Savold, $20,000 to Maxim and $15,000 to the Cincinnati gardens.

The match is to be publicized as a "heavyweight championship" Becker was informed by Abe Greene, national boxing association commissioner, that there would be no restrictions in titling the match a championship bout.

Although the commission said it could recognize the match as only an elimination bout, Becker said:

"I've got as much right to call this a championship match as they have in Chicago."

36—City Homes for Sale

It's Later Than You Think

(In fact this is always true, but seldom realized by most of us in making Real Estate decisions.)

Here Are Several Good Buys

Bartley Avenue

This exceptionally well located home has 2 large bedrooms and bath up and 4 rooms down (with lavatory) and has been entirely redecorated on the interior and newly painted on the exterior. IMMEDIATE POSSESSION. Price is $13,500 furnished or $11,500 unfurnished.

2.
North Mulberry

With 2 large bedrooms up and 4 rooms down, this property is an excellent buy. (The lot extends clear through from Mulberry to Coul Street). Price is $6800.

3.
Woodland

I have two exceptionally well located 4 bedroom homes in Woodland in the $25,000 price range.

4.
Suburban Surprise

If you would like the advantages of a nice four bedroom home, with large wellshrubbed and shaded yard, complete in every way, I'll be glad to show you this property. Price is $22,500.00 and would require approximately $10,000.00 down payment

5.
Forest Hill Road in Woodland

Take a drive by No. 500 Forest Hill Road, and if you do not agree that this property is one of the nicest prewar built Colonial type houses—just don't call me about it. The owner is leaving the city, possession can be given very soon. (The interior is "no disappointment").

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3 The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

MAGGIE IS SURE MAD AT THAT NEW COOK SHE HIRED-
THE VERY IDEA OF THAT COOK SERVING CORNED BEEF AND CABBAGE TO MY DINNER GUESTS! I WAS NEVER SO EMBARRASSED IN MY LIFE!
NEITHER WAS I-MAGGIE-
I WANT YOU TO TALK TO HER AND WARN HER AGAINST A REPETITION OF SUCH A BLUNDER-
I ALREADY DID-MAGGIE-
I'M SO GLAD EVERY-BODY ENJOYED THE DINNER-AND I WANT TO THANK H'R JIGGS AGAIN FOR THE RAISE WHAT?

FATHER, COULDN'T WE POSSIBLY INCREASE MY ALLOWANCE?

NO, I CAN'T AFFORD TO GIVE YOU ANY MORE -

Stamp Honors Puerto Rico

A three-cent stamp commemorating the first gubernatorial election in Puerto Rico will be issued by the U. S. Post Office department April 27 through the Postmaster at San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Stamp collectors may obtain first-day covers by sending self-addressed envelopes, not in excess of 10 to the San Juan Postmaster with a postal money order to cover the cost of the stamps.

The stamps will be issued in sheets of 50 subjects with one million to be printed. Uncancelled stamps may be obtained through the usual philatelic channels.

'Dust Off' Ohio Turnpike Bill

Pressure Gets Action Underway

See Hearings In Two Weeks

COLUMBUS — (AP) — The bill to give Ohio toll roads like the Pennsylvania turnpike has come to life in the Ohio House.

It has lain dormant in the House Reference committee for two weeks since the Senate passed it 26 to 5 March 9. The committee usually keeps bills only two days.

The measure went to the House Highways committee Thursday. Hearings are expected to start in about two weeks.

Reports circulated that it took combined pressure from sponsors of the measure, Senate and House leaders and possibly Gov. Frank J. Lausche himself to get the bill moving.

Sponsors Ralph A. Winter (R-Medina) and William M. Boyd (D-Cuyahoga) said they couldn't understand the delay. They said Rep. G. D. Tablack (D-Mahoning), reference chairman, told them he was "Studying" the measure.

Youngstown and Cleveland interests generally have favored turnpikes for Ohio. The governor also has indicated approval. Petroleum interests fought it. A similar bill passed the Senate last year but died in the House.

The measure is designed to permit construction of four-lane toll roads linked to the Pennsylvania turnpike from near Pittsburgh to Ohio.

The initial turnpike for Ohio probably would run from near Youngstown and Akron towards Cleveland. It would swing past Lorain and Toledo to the Indiana line.

The reference committee also sent to the highway committee a turnpike bill by Rep. L. C. Washburn (D-Summit). It provides for only one turnpike and says it must be built across Ohio between U. S. Routes 224 and 30. That would swing it south to Akron, Tiffin and Findlay.

Shots End Wild Chase

NORWALK — (AP) — A Warren man wanted on check forgery charges was held in jail today after a wild chase in which police and civilians of four counties participated.

Cpl. James White of the highway patrol said the high-speed hunt covered 84 miles in Seneca, Sandusky, Erie and Huron counties. He estimated about 35 cars took part.

White identified the man as Kenneth Fitzgerald, 55. He was placed in the county jail after pistol and shotgun shots punctured a tire on his car late yesterday.

A woman identified by Fitzgerald as his wife was with him in the car, White said.

The chase started at Attica when police there were notified a car containing Fitzgerald was headed that way. Police stopped the vehicle when it reached Attica, but Fitzgerald sped away while being questioned, White said.

From then on, Fitzgerald pursued a hodge podge pattern, doubling back over routes and traveling down lanes and back roads. More pursuers joined in as he went along.

White said some of the cities on the chase route were Willard, Berlinville and Monroeville.

At Tiffin Meeting

Oliver Gramly, of Weller township, Richland county director on the board of the Northern Ohio Breeders' association went to Tiffin today for a reorganization meeting of the board County Agent C. N. McGrew also went to Tiffin for the meeting.

quoted Donahue as saying: "If you weren't a yellow coward, you'd fight."

Attorney Calhoun asked Rev. Mann: "Did he strike at you?"

The witness replied: "No."

FINDS NO THREAT

Judge Schettler then asked City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch if the rest of the witnesses would testify along the same line. Kalbfleisch said they would and Judge Schettler dismissed the charges against Donahue, asserting that a threat without some motion or action does not constitute threatening in a menacing manner.

"If no act was associated with the threat, it did not constitute a violation," Judge Schettler said in dismissing the charges. He said it was "only an invitation to fight," and that Donahue "made no move to do bodily harm."

Rev. Mann testified that Potter, a deacon of the church and Sunday school teacher, went to the pulpit and demanded that the business meeting be held.

Rev. Mann said he told the congregation that it wasn't the time for a business meeting—that it was the time for worship.

Witnesses testified that eight or 10 members of the congregation left the church during the argument. There were between 50 and 60 persons in the church.

Rev. Mann started the church last summer, they said, but he was never voted in by the congregation, testimony showed.

C. A. Davies, employment manager at Empire, said the 30 men laid off since Jan. 1 were taken from the hot mill because of lack of orders.

"Nothing is contemplated on future lay-offs," Davies said, "with other industries cutting down, it's no more than natural that we'd be hit, too."

A lay-off of more than 300 at Dominion Electric corporation since the peak period in November, has put employment back to the pre-war level, according to Sam Shapiro, personnel manager at the plant. Shapiro said 75 workers were laid off at the plant last week, bringing the employment figure to 560 More than 900 were employed at the plant last fall.

Other lay-offs, previously reported since the first of the year, include 200 workers at Tappan Stove company and 218 workers at Mansfield Tire and Rubber company.

Scotts Prize Century-Old Furniture

Build House to Fit Bedroom Suite

By EILEEN DEWHURST

When the T. A. Scott family built a home at 481 Marion avenue, the plans called for low ceilings in all the rooms except one. This was a bedroom which has an unusually high ceiling for a modern house.

This one room was planned around the furniture it was to contain, an antique bedroom set which had belonged to Mrs. Scott's mother. Since the backboard of the bed is approximately nine feet high, a high ceiling was a necessity in the room.

The exact age of the bedroom set is not known, but it probably is more than 100 years old. It has been in Mrs. Scott's family for 45 years. The set has been admired by many of the Scotts' friends, and it has an interesting history as well.

It was exhibited at the first state fair which was held in Mansfield nearly 100 years ago. Mrs. Scott's mother told her the fair was held at the corner of Lexington avenue and South Main street.

TOOK FIRST PRIZE

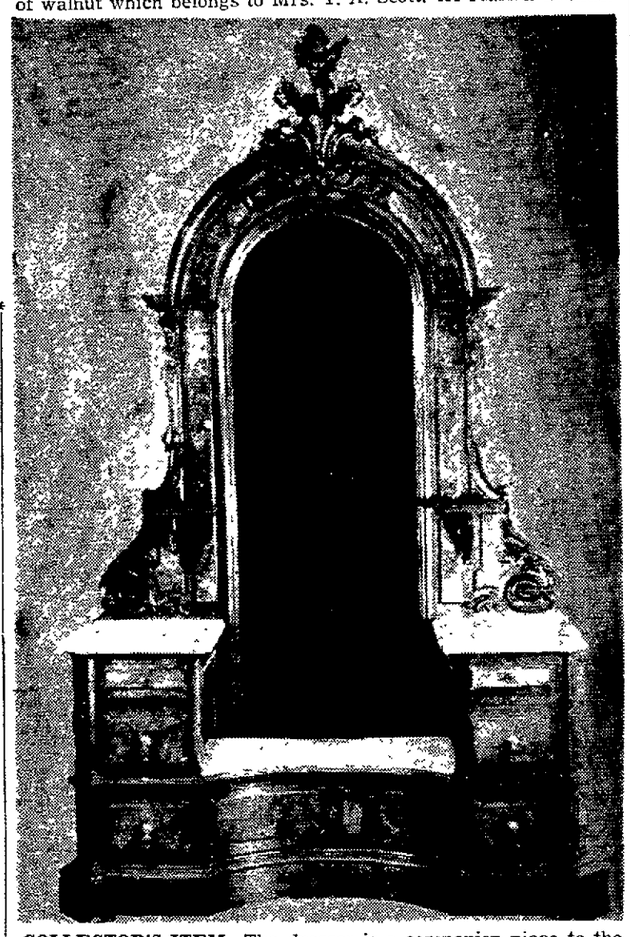
The bedroom set at that time belonged to the Niman family who were in the furniture business. The set took a first prize at the fair. It changed hands a number of times until Mrs. Scott's mother obtained it from a distant relative. The Nimans sold the set the first time for $1,500.

There are four large pieces in the set which is made of several different kinds of walnut. All of the pieces are ornately carved with cupids and similar decorations.

The dresser, night-stand, and washstand have marble tops. Mrs. Scott said a number of people have told her it is very unusual to find a nightstand among antique bedroom furniture pieces.

Although Mrs. Scott prizes the bedroom set highly, she said she she does not collect antiques. The only antiques she is interested in are those which have been in the family for a number of years. Among these are a set of butternut chairs 125 years old.

TALL BED—This ornately carved, antique bed has a backboard nine feet high. The bed is part of a set made of several kinds of walnut which belongs to Mrs. T. A. Scott, 481 Marion avenue.



COLLECTOR'S ITEM—The dresser is a companion piece to the bed belonging to Mrs. Scott. Embellished with a cupid which matches the one on the bed, it is topped with marble.

City Bakery To Expand

Two building permits were issued yesterday to Stimmler's bakery, 672 Bowman street, for a $4,000-tile storage room and a $3,000 tile garage.

Both structures are to be built at the Bowman street address by contractor Frank Beymer.

Another permit was issued to Godfrey Brumm, 546 Beechwood drive, contractor, for a five-room residence and attached garage.

The structure is to be of brick veneer and the estimated cost is $10,000.

Ontario Club Plans Party For April 4

The Ontario Merry Misses 4-H Cooking club will hold a skating party Monday, April 4. Members of the club will meet at the home of the adviser in Ontario at 6 p. m.

Plans for the party were made at a meeting held at the adviser's home Wednesday. Patty Hall gave a demonstration on how to make a baked custard.

Games and refreshments followed the business meeting. The next meeting will be held April 6.

Lower Vegetable Prices Aid Housewives for This Weekend

(By Associated Press)

Housewives in most cities will find many vegetable prices lower this week. Several cuts of lamb and pork are slightly higher; beef and veal are a trifle lower, and dairy products generally unchanged.

Few of the retail price changes amount to more than a couple of pennies either up or down.

Heavier supplies of snap beans, broccoli, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, celery, cucumbers, peppers, oranges and grapefuit in most retail marketing centers caused green grocers to trim prices wherever possible to satisfy customers shopping carefully for competitive bargains.

Lettuce, higher last week as demand picked up with the arrival of springlike weather in many sections of the country, eased as much as 3½ cents a head as shipments increased.

Only sweet potatoes were generally a little firmer in price. In the east, Maine potatoes were a penny or two higher, reflecting a temporary shortage of freight cars for commercial shipments, produce men said.

Lamb continued last week's gentle uptrend resulting from short supplies and the windup of the seasonal crop. Meat buyers attributed the advance in pork cuts to increased demand by consumers substituting pork for high-priced lamb.

Veal was said to have recovered somewhat from the slump of three or four weeks ago, but still was not as high in price as it was in early February. New light-weight calves from dairy farms began arriving in markets in volume this week, and tended to soften veal prices.

More Flexible Rent Controls Favored

THE SENATE and House of Representatives will now seek to compose the differences between the rent control bills which each has passed. This should not prove too difficult Both measures show similar intent to extend controls for at least a year and to permit the exercise of some local judgment on when controls should be lifted.

It is quite clear that in Mansfield, for example, the abolition of all rent controls at this time would work severe hardships on many because there is still a shortage of rental units. Some restrictions seem advisable despite the obvious inequities which exist under the present law—with converted garages renting for much more than a good home.

But certainly local authorities should have the right to declare when the situation has become such that restrictions can be lifted. That time may be approaching. Some families attracted here during the war by high industrial pay are leaving the city for their former homes.

A number of new houses are on the market which might become rental properties if the buyer could see his way clear to making a legitimate profit on his investment. That time, too, may be approaching.

But no expert in Washington or Columbus can tell as well as local citizens when these factors will add up to time for ending controls.

Hence, out of the seeming congressional muddling there may emerge a law that will be at least reasonably satisfactory.

Senate Overrules John L. Lewis

BY ORDER of John L. Lewis, 460,000 coal miners are expected to return to work Monday, after having been idled for two weeks by an edict from their chief, who termed the work stoppage a memorial to mine accident victims, although his action was generally regarded as further emphasis on his protest against appointment of Dr. James Boyd as head of the U. S. bureau of mines.

The miners' "strike," or whatever it may be called, was followed almost immediately by Senate committee approval of Dr. Boyd's appointment, which had been delayed for more than a year, and Senate confirmation came a couple of days ago—by a vote of 50 to 11.

What John L. Lewis proved, by his stop-work order to the miners, is that he retains complete control over that large group of workers in an essential industry, but what was also proved by Senate action is that Lewis has not yet gained appointive authority for high governmental posts and he cannot dictate Senate action in such matters.

It will be hoped that Dr. Boyd measures up to the responsibilities of the position for which he has been chosen and that approval of his appointment is based on recognized qualifications, rather than designed as a rebuke to Lewis.

As Playgrounds Season Approaches

MENTION of the condition of playground equipment at the Richland County Children's home, will remind city officials that the time is not far away when various parks will open and children will come thronging in to use swings, merry-go-rounds and slides.

It is to be hoped that a general maintenance program has been worked out for this summer to keep the equipment in good repair. (It is naturally assumed that the equipment will be in top notch condition when the parks open.)

Indeed, it would be a pity to see a repetition of last year's experience wherein swings were allowed to become squeaky, merry-go-rounds lapsed into dangerous disrepair, and a general air of carelessness became apparent well before the end of the season.

Where new equipment is needed, the lack should be made known in time for funds to be obtained and orders placed so that what can be purchased will not arrive with the first snowfall.

Historic Sites Gaining Attention

A LAWYER with a desire to see the important places in the United States set himself the program of seeing one national park in each annual vacation. He had to abandon the plan because, he said, national parks were added at a faster rate than one a year, and he was falling behind instead of gaining. Certainly that is true if national monuments and historic sites are counted in, for our alert National Park System is rapidly adding to their number.

One of the latest is a venture outside of the continental United States. Four Spanish sixteenth century forts in Puerto Rico have just been taken under the wing of the park system. The most interesting is El Morro, which was started in 1539, underwent a siege by Sir Francis Drake in 1595, and later was captured at different times by both the English and the Dutch. Its defenses are still used by the Army.

Football Hall of Fame Proposed

NEW YORK STATE, which already has the Baseball Hall of Fame, wants one for football also. The lower house of the legislature has asked that the site, when chosen, be at Cazenovia in the Finger Lakes region, described as the birthplace of Gerrit Smith Miller, "founder of the game in 1863".

Critics of the idea say that it is a game of teams and not individuals, and that individuals should not be singled out for special recognition. This is probably true enough, though no more applicable to football than to baseball or other team sports. Human nature being what it is, people probably will go on singling out individual players for glory, whether or not there's a hall of fame for them.

What Some Other People Are Saying

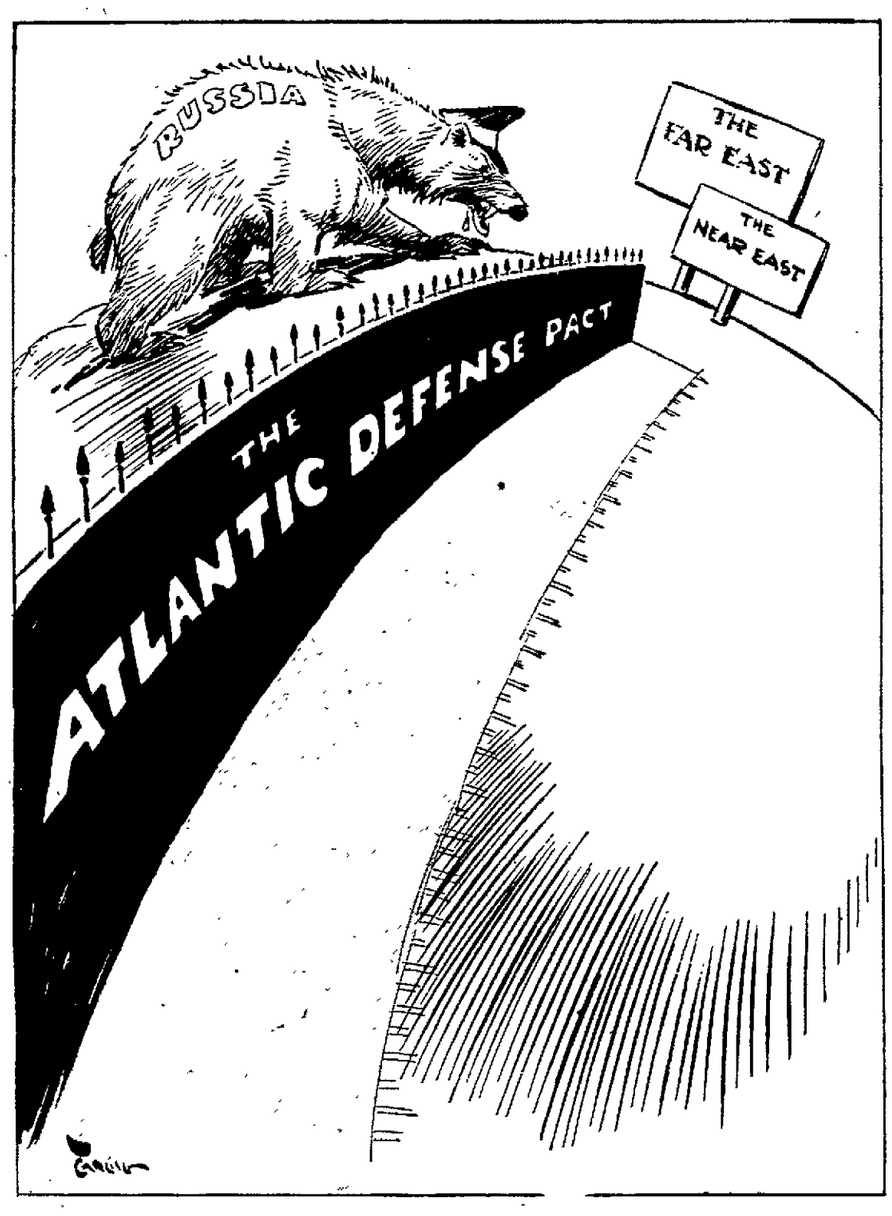
DR. E. G. NOURSE, chairman of President Truman's Council of Economic Advisers: "This year is looked upon as a prosperous but not an inflationary year."

* * *

GEN. LESLIE KINCAID, ex-military governor of Naples, returning from a re-visit to Italy: "I was impressed by the deep concern of Pope Pius. When I've talked with him in years past, he has never discussed his feelings for Russia. This time, mentioned communism four times, shook his head, and was extremely grave."

* * *

DR. FRANK GRAHAM, newly-appointed senator from North Carolina: "I am not a communist, never have been a communist and I never shall be one. I'm willing to be investigated by anybody."



Maybe It Will Have to Be Extended.

DeWitt Mackenzie's Column

Russian Serfs Saw Hope In Communism

PAUL G. HOFFMAN, economic co-operation administrator, told a dozen Swedish labor leaders in Washington the other day that Russia won't start a war so long as "the free peoples of the world stand together."

That likely is true, and it would have been interesting if Mr. Hoffman had expanded on that idea a bit. Who are the "free peoples" and what makes 'em that way?

That and a lot of other questions must be answered if we are to navigate the present troubled waters successfully. It is a problem of education.

In recognition of this fact, America's educational leaders are planning changes in curricula to deal with the questions growing out of a continuing cold war.

The educational policies commission of the National Education Association, of which President Dwight Eisenhower of Columbia University is a member, conferred in Washington last week.

Dr. John K. Norton of Columbia, chairman of the commission, said: "The prospect that the cold war will continue into the adulthood of children now in school intensifies the responsibilities of teachers in the present international crisis."

The commission expects to make recommendations in the spring. They will be designed to guide teachers and to implement American foreign policy.

A great problem has revolved about the question of whether communism should be dealt with in the class room and, if so, just how. Many educators have reached the conclusion that the facts about communism should be presented but in a wholly objective manner.

* * *

Victims of Despotism.

THERE are many queries which the inquiring young mind (and the old one, for that matter) would like answered. One of them probably is why it should have fallen to the great Russian empier to become the homeland of bolshevism. The answer isn't complicated and it explains a lot.

Russia under the cars was a land of darkness and despotism. There was one privileged class — the aristocracy. The "people" were serfs. Many of them always were ready for revolt against their masters, and it fell to bolshevism with its direct-action to engineer the successful revolution. Unhappily, however, bolshevism also rules by a minority.

This same thing has happened in other countries which have had despotic rule. To illustrate:

During a trip to a balkan country before the war I visited the estates of one of the landed gentry. He was having some huge excavations made in muddy terrain in order to create some fish-ponds.

The terribly heavy labor was done largely by peasant girls working in the mire with shovels. My host laughed as he boasted that he hired these girls for the equivalent of about 15 cents a day, plus some soup at noon time. He also sent them home in trucks at night.

Well, the rank and file in a country like that will turn on relief to almost any ism which looks promising. Bolshevism struck at an opportune moment.

However, here again we have minority rule and not the majority rule which characterizes the democracies. Countries under minority rule are not the "free peoples" of which Mr. Hoffman spoke.

So the educational experts more and more seem to be leaning to the idea that all these pertinent facts should be placed before students of an understanding age. The students need to know not only what constitutes "free peoples" but what keeps them that way.

Frankly Speaking

Key Sections In Pact

By JAMES MARLOW

(Editor's Note: This is the last of four stories explaining the Atlantic Pact.)

* * *

WASHINGTON — The Atlantic Pact has two key sections. This story explains them, for you'll hear about them from Congress.

This country—with Canada, Britain, France, Norway, Belgium, Luxembourg, the Netherlands—wrote the Pact as a defense against Russia.

Their reason: If they're ready for attack, they may not be attacked at all; but if attacked, they'll be ready.

But — unless the Senate approves, we can't take part in the Pact at all. It's expected to, probably in a few weeks.

Before the Senate says all right, the two key sections mentioned above will draw the heaviest examination and argument.

They are: How to prepare against an attack and what to do if the attack comes. Take them one at a time.

How to prepare against attack —

There are 14 articles in the 1,040-word pact, and Article 3, one of the keys, says:

"In order more effectively to achieve the objectives of this treaty, the parties, separately and jointly, by means of continuous and effective self-help and mutual aid, will maintain and develop their individual and collective capacity to resist armed attack."

* * *

In Event of Attack.

IT MEANS they agree to help themselves and one another prepare. Since we're best able to help, most of the helping depends on us.

To do that, President Truman is expected to ask Congress for $1,000,000,000 or more. He may get some strong opposition on the grounds that we're spending too much money already.

Yet, in case of Russian attack, the European countries would be our first line or defense. They'd have to stand the brunt till we swung into action. That would be priceless help to us.

Unless we give plenty of help, our allies may wonder what meaning the pact has anyway and whether we can be depended on at all.

What to do if attack comes—

Article 5 is the other key section. It says that if one of the pact allies is attacked, the others, singly and jointly, will give it such help as each "deems necessary, including the use of armed force."

That part about what each "deems necessary" is a loophole for any ally which wanted to use it. In case one ally was attacked, another could say it didn't "deem" it necessary to go to war to help out.

Then would we have to go to war? Asked about it, secretary of state Acheson said, "It is true nobody can force us to do it. But we will do what we have contracted to do." What, exactly? That's vague.

This Pact can't say outright that we'll go to war if an ally is attacked. Only Congress can put us into war—formally—by declaring war.

(But from the moment the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor we were at war, although Congress didn't declare it till the next day).

Then how can our allies—since the Pact makes no outright promise we'll go to war with them—feel they can trust us to help out in a pinch?

They must feel pretty sure—after their long talk with Acheson and the expected Senate approval of the Pact—that we wouldn't let them down, or they wouldn't sign the Pact.

This is pretty shadowy ground here. But that's the way it is.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Army-Navy Rivalry Still Troublesome

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The Army and Navy are going to have some real surprises when Louis Johnson takes over as secretary of national defense He really means business when it comes to scaling off the century-old crust of Army-Navy rivalry and making all three services act as if they were serving under the same flag.

No definite decision has been made as yet, but one thing in the back of Johnson's mind is to ask Congress to abolish Annapolis and West Point as traditional training schools for the Army and Navy.

Johnson has already been talking the matter over with some of his intimate advisers and here are some of the points they have placed before him:

1. Real rivalry between the Army and Navy comes from the Annapolis-West Pointers at the top. It doesn't come from the younger officers below, and particularly isn't carried on by the reserve officers who haven't been exposed to four years of intensive Annapolis-West Point tradition.

2. Other professional men, such as doctors and lawyers, take four years at any accredited college, then specialize at a professional school.

3. Therefore, it's proposed to use Annapolis and West Point as normal training schools for all officers mixing up the future commanders of the Army, Navy and Air Force. Not until they have rubbed shoulders and got acquainted for two to three years at West Point or Annapolis would they decide their ultimate branch of the service.

After this preliminary, non-specialized training they would specialize at a separate school to become either Air Force or Navy or Army officers.

Johnson advisers point out that the old-school-tie tradition is strong among all Annapolis and West Point grads. Classmatesstick together and their preiudices tick with them years afterward. But if Army, Navy, Air Force officers have all trained together in the same class, they will work together much more cooperatively, even though they later join rival branches of the service.

Note—A committee of noted educators under some distinguished scholastic figure, such as president James Conant of Harvard, would study the matter first and recommend the best solution to the secretary of national defense.

Civil Rights Again.

HIGHLIGHT of President Truman's private meeting with Congressional leaders immediately following his return from Key West was a decision to make another try for enactment of the civil-rights program.

Senate majority leader Scott Lucas intends to press for a roll-call vote not only on anti-lynching and poll-tax repeal, but on the hotly controversial fair-employment-practices program, chief target of Dixie filibusters.

However, the Senate decks will be cleared first of other major bills, including a new labor law, social-security extension, public-housing and minimum-wage legislation — all road-blocked by the recent talkathon.

"Of course I still think that's the way it should have been handled in the first place," remarked Lucas, who was never enthusiastic about the White House strategy of an early showdown on civil rights.

Truman, tanned and healthy, grinned happily and said that he, also, had no intention of abandoning civil-rights legislation.

Lucas observed that Republican senators who joined with southern Democrats in the recent filibuster already are beginning to feel the backlash of public opinion from their states.

* * *

Merry-Go-Round.

THE FRENCH are dead set against letting Field Marshal Montgomery continue as military commander under the North Atlantic Pact. He is too dictatorial, 'too temperamental and too much a prima donna. Only Eisenhower could get along with him during the war. So the French urge that an American general take over, and they would not be averse to Gen. Al Wedemeyer, chief of American war plans. . .The National Association of Real Estate Boards raised $37,853 for its lobby against the rent-control bill. The lobby likes to claim that the big landlords aren't their main supporters, but one-fourth of this kitty came from only twenty big realtor groups . . .Maj. Gen. Alden Waitt, a good Chemical Corps commander, is a passionate devottee of cleanliness. He has been hounding the Army to install a new bathroom, shower and kitchenette in his headquarters and has now finally got them—with air conditioning and soundproofing to boot. . .If the USA could collect all the money the Dutch rubber cartel squeezed out of us in exorbitant prices charged before Pearl Harbor, this would finance our ECA aid to Holland (which the state department insists on) ten times over.

Views of a Land-Owner

By INEZ ROBB

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. — "The owner of land is only its custodian during his life time," in the earnest opinion of Tom Campbell who operates, near Hardin, Mont., the biggest privately-owned wheat farm in the world.

Now that he has purchased 429,000 acres in New Mexico, the largest ranch in the state, he has launched a program of conservation in partnership with the U. S. government that may eventually produce an agricultural model for the nation.

"As an owner, I have no right to destroy the soil part of our national wealth and heritage, for either society or posterity," he said as he pointed to the sad results of erosion and over-grazing on the land he has acquired here.

"I believe so firmly in soil and moisture conservation, and in erosion control," he continued, "that I think it should be compulsory. If the individual owner won't do it on his own, then I believe the government should have the right to do it and assess the cost as a lien on the property.

"I know this sounds very tough. But we must conserve the soil if we are to conserve the nation."

By working with experts of the U. S. government, which Tom calls "my best friend and partner," he has already begun to reclaim thousands of over-grazed New Mexico acres. By restricted grazing, as suggested by the government, the cattle caring capacity of the 310,000 acre La Joya grant already has been doubled in a five-year period.

Because of over-grazing, this global farmer charges that New Mexico today has less cattle range carrying capacity than it had 25 years ago.

* * *

More Water Needed.

WHEN he bid in 1936 on the La Joya grant, containing a 100,000 acre pasture which Tom believes to be the finest in the state it was so over-grazed that he was the only bidder on the property.

"At the time I made my bid, I talked with old-timers who could remember when the grass was hub-high in these parts of New Mexico," Tom said. "Certainly, there was no evidence in 1936 that there had ever been such grass.

"But I knew if there had been once, there could be again, with good range building and conservation practices."

While he patiently rebuilds the La Joya range, hoping again for grass hub-high, Tom is drilling wells and seeking new sources of water supply on this great tract, which runs due south from the little town of Belen for 35 miles.

Tom knows that the soil here is so fertile it will grow anything with the aid of water. But water is the problem. He is now drilling a well which he hopes eventually will produce 1,000 gallons of water per minute.

If this well is a success, Tom will plant the first 80 acres of alfalfa on La Joya, and start other wells immediately. Eventually, if he can coax sufficient water out of this arid ground, he wants to put approximately 25,000 acres in alfalfa, corn, oats and barley.

In the meantime, on the 32,000 acre San Pedro grant east of Albuquerque in the Sandia mountain belt, Tom has planted 500 acres of winter wheat as a test plot.

Geologist, archeologists and U. S. agricultural experts swarm over his New Mexico fief. Archeologists have discovered on the San Pedro grant traces of indian villages that date back 2,700 years. And the geologists have found evidences of great mineral wealth varying from oil to lead and zinc.

Substantial deposits of barium, bentinote and mica have already been located. And there is a wealth of caliche, an almost natural cement splendid for road building.

Dave Boone Says:

I HEAR Harry Truman is studying the Atlantic Pact carefully in the hope he may find something in it that will give him some assistance in his war with Congress.

* * *

If Harry hasn't been a victim of aggressive acts the past few weeks I can't figure out who has.

* * *

But the President now has the advantage of a Florida vacation and those senators and representatives look like washed-out ghosts by comparison. They may envy him his color and condition so much that they will be colder to him than ever.

* * *

I see Russia is publishing the North Atlantic Pact in all the papers in detail. That will amaze Russian newspaper readers. They've been cut off so long from news of what's been going on in the western world that they will have to check on their geographies to recall some of the places and people involved.

One Man's Opinion

THE Voice of America is now putting out the President's speeches in Persian and that's the way Congress appears to be getting them.

Farmer's Diary

Surprised and Pleased

By CALVIN A. BYERS

"Intelligent exaggeration is a novelist's stock-in-trade." — Thos. H. Uzzell.

* * *

IN HIS newspaper column, on Sunday, March 20, Louis Bromfield began "I have a friend who is also a columnist and I wish that his column were published daily in every newspaper in the United States for I can't help believing that what he has to say is, in the light of God and of the future welfare of the nation, more important than all the columns about politics, economics and world affairs. His name is Calvin Byers. . .he farms a little place in the Honey Creek Valley near Mansfield. . ." and so on.

Some of the things Bromfield writes are, in my opinion, not worth wasting time on. I listen carefully when he talks on farming. The man is growing, putting down new roots, and his love for the land is sincere. To be sure, he is often as raw, headstrong and impetuous as one of those Boxer pups he likes so well, and like P. T. Barnum, he's inclined to ballyhoo for his own particular sideshows, but he's not stingy; he works hard; and he has a fine wife.

I didn't know, before, that he counts me such a friend of his—but it makes me happy.

Last Sunday was the "first day of spring." We had breakfast late, and when our four boys went to Sunday school, I rode along down to the corner, got the newspaper out of the funnel beside Route 13, and walked home slowly with it under my arm. I didn't hurry, for it was enjoyable to feel the sun on my face, and to hear the gurgle of Honey Creek under the stone bridge, and to see the peach buds swelling on the twigs of the young orchard. I picked off a handful of buds for my wife to see, and gave them to her with the newspaper when I came in.

As usual, she turned to the editorial page, and I saw her give a little jump. Then she pulled me down beside her on the edge of the bed and read the piece aloud. (She reads faster than I).

When she had finished, we looked at each other with moist eyes. Whew! What a task the man had handed us! We did what we felt like doing. Together, silent, we bowed our heads.

Air Force, Navy Hint Vital Tests Planned for Huge Bomber

Jet Versus Propeller Duel Seen

Stratosphere Offers Problem

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Could navy fighters shoot down the B-36 bomber in the stratosphere —where the air force says jets can't touch it?

The air force may make tests to find out. Navy fighters are built to different standards than land-based planes.

The air force has made no secret of its belief that the B-36, operating unescorted at 40,000 feet and higher, is a virtually "unsinkable" as far as present type fighters are concerned.

But—1. The "invulnerability" story ignores the possibility of radical tactics—such as mid-air ramming, used by Russian pilots in both world wars—and radical equipment such as guided or target-seeking missiles and air-borne cannon with proximity-fused shells.

2. The B-36 never has bucked navy fighters, either jet or propeller.

3. The air force has no interceptor fighter in service and so doesn't know what a plane built for the job can do.

Here is the story on B-36 interception:

Several hundred tests have been made using jet fighters, principally the F-80 shooting Star. These have shown (1) that the jet planes tested require about 23 minutes to climb to altitudes, (2) that their engines have only about one-fourth sea-level power when eight miles up, while piston engines can draw nearly full power, and (3) in the thin air their small wings give them less maneuverability than the big bomber.

Navy planes are built to use less than 500 feet of deck instead of mile-long runways. They are powered for quick climb, and navy jets have auxiliary boosts known as afterburners that give them a double push in emergencies.

The air force isn't using these yet but will have them on later model fighters.

The navy's outstanding propeller fighter, the F4U-5 Corsair, is reported to have run away from the F-80 at 40,000 feet and over. It is expected that the navy's newest jet fighters, the F2H Banshee and the F7U Cutlass, will do at least as well. Both are two-engine fighters.

Mexican Pelican Turns Up With Rarity; Bamboo Beak

SAN DIEGO — (UP) — A rare old bird is the pelican, but the rarest of all pelicans is Pegnose Pete, the Mexican Pelican with the bamboo beak.

Only a few weeks ago, Pete was just another pelican around the Todos Santos Islands in Mexican waters south of San Diego. Then somebody took a shot at the friendly old bird, almost severing his upper bill near the middle.

Poor Pete could no longer dive for fish. His profile was ruined. Lady pelicans shunned him. He grew wan and thin. He was sick.

But along came the tuna clipper Resolute, skippered by Richard Strumpf of San Diego.

For a week Pete came alongside the Resolute every morning to be fed smelt caught for him by members of the crew. Then Capt. Strumpf brought Pete aboard. He fashioned a splint from a length of bamboo fishpole, drilled holes in both halves of the bill and wired Pete's profile firmly back in place.

Pete made the return trip to San Diego with the Resolute, but not without trouble. Humiliating as it may seem, old Pegnose Pete was seasick.

Today, however, he is well and chipper, the pride of the San Diego zoo's seabird pool, which has brown, white, Peruvian and Mediterranean pelicans—but only one with a bamboo beak.

COLONY CLUB WELCOMES FIVE NEW MEMBERS

Luncheon Meeting Held at Mansfield-Leland Club Room Thursday; Book Review Given.

THIRTY-TWO MEMBERS of the Colony club met Thursday noon in the clubrooms of the Mansfield-Leland hotel for a 1 o'clock luncheon and program. The group welcomed five new members, Mrs. Kent Hammer, Mrs. Thomas Ansel, Mrs. G. A. Glausser, Mrs. D. Traver and Mrs. Allen Sanford. A guest, Mrs. A. J. Kaerner, was in attendance.

Mrs. Marcus Brooks served as hostess chairman, assisted by Mrs. C. W. Birdsong, Mrs. Russell Long, Mrs. Frank Renard, Mrs. Leonard Riley, Mrs. J. M. Ritter, Mrs. D. S. Sharp, Mrs. Kenneth Smith and Mrs. Hall Weidemer.

Mrs. Dean Miller presided for the business session after which Mrs. Dean Dickerson reviewed the book, "When This You See. Remember Me."

Plans were discussed for the next meeting to be held April 7 at the hotel clubrooms. Mrs. Howard Clark will be hostess chairman for the luncheon-bridge.

Guests Attend Women's Aid Luncheon

The Women's Aid of the Pennsylvania railroad met Thursday at their clubrooms for a one o'clock dessert luncheon with Mrs. T. A. Reader, Mrs. C. R. Ladd and Mrs. A. H. Weikert serving as hostesses.

The table was appointed in yellow and white with bowls of large yellow tulips serving as the centerpiece. The guests present from Pittsburgh were Mrs. J. D. Fuchs, Mrs. C. G. Phies, Mrs. R. J. Suffern and Mrs. H. W. Bauman. Mansfield guests were Mrs. John Carr and Mrs. B. O. Smith.

Mrs. H. R. Williams, chairman, presided over the business meeting. Plans were made to attend the annual spring luncheon of the eastern division, to be held in Pittsburgh, at the Fort Pitt hotel, April 19.

The next meeting will be a covered dish dinner with members' families to be the guests. The dinner will be held at North Lake park pavilion April 23 at 6:30 p. m. Mrs. E. A. Graham, and her committee are in charge of arrangements.

ENTERTAIN GUESTS

The Mansfield Master Plumbers auxiliary met for a covered dish dinner with the Master Plumbers as guests. Mrs. Chetman Critchfield presided over the business meeting. Mrs. Emmett Page was named chairman of program committee. The next regular meeting was held April 26 with Mrs. F. J. Antrican and Mrs. W. E. Antrican, hostesses at the former's home, 311 East Third street.

Dorcas Society Entertained

Members of the Dorcas Society of the Seventh Day Adventist church met Wednesday in the Dorcas room, Cline avenue. Mrs. Thomas Fogle led devotions and Mrs. J. W. Waddell gave the prayer.

The remainder of the time was spent in making drapes and comforts. At a late hour refreshments were served at a long table decorated with yellow flowers. Mrs. Raymond Mattox, president, presided as hostess. The next meeting will be held April 6 with Mrs. Fogle as hostess.

McLaughlin Relief Corps and Sewing Circle to Give Gifts

The McLaughlin Woman's Relief corps Marquis sewing circle met Wednesday afternoon with the president, Mrs. R. N. Waring conducting the business session. It was decided to send gifts of clothing to the adopted mother at Madison home. A covered dish dinner was served to the sixteen present. The next meeting of the sewing circle will be May 25 at Memorial hall.

The McLaughlin Relief corps met at 7:30 p.m. with Mrs. Waring, president, as chairman. The group voted to send a cash Easter gift, with the sewing circle gift to the adopted mother. It was announced that the regular meeting of the Mansfield Community Memorial and Patriotic association will be held April 9 in Memorial hall at 7:30 p.m.

Miss Ida Hunter read a clipping announcing the last Grand Army of the Republic national convention, which will be held August 28 to Sept. 1 in Indianapolis.

The celebration of the sixty-fifth anniversary of the corps will be held jointly with the Sarah E. Lewis junior club, April 27 at 6 p.m. A covered dish dinner will be served followed by a program and a social hour with Mrs. C. V. Neff chairman and Miss Mary Beilstein, dining room chairman.

The next regular meeting of the corps will be held April 13. The auditing committee will meet at the home of Mrs. T. M. Case, 106 South Main street, March 30.

Montgomery Ward Fashion Show Enthusiastically Received

By JOAN SCHWEIT

John Simpson junior high school auditorium was filled with more than a thousand spectators last night when the Montgomery Ward and company, in cooperation with the Ohio Public Service, staged a combined cooking school and fashion show.

Marcella Finnegan of Ohio Public Service, assisted by Irene Oberlin, prepared an oven meal, a surface meal, a cooker meal and a thirty minute meal, on the stage. A comprehensive explanation of the value of the home freezer, followed while Mrs. Finnegan took a complete dinner from the freezer and prepared it. Wrapping utensils for freezing were displayed and the values of each described.

The fashion show, supervised and narrated by Harold McCuen, featured spring fashions in a moderate price range. The fashions included the company's new spring line in women's and girl's ready-to-wear —from suits, toppers and dress-back dresses and even an ideal dress in which to go marketing.

One style, which was very enthusiastically received by the audience, was a navy blue taffeta sunback dress with a fitted jacket which, when buttoned, created the effect of a dressy two piece ensemble.

Miss Beverly Wentz, favored the audience with songs, accompanied on the piano by Ed Stanton. Bob Walsh was in charge of sound effects and Glenn Hoffman supervised the lighting.

The ushers were Bill Davis, Charles Henry, Bob Cates, Bob Vrbanac, Larry Greening and Clyde Browning.

Shower Fetes Miss Scott

The last in the series of prenuptial showers, honoring Miss Betty Jean Scott, was given at North Lake park pavilion by the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Milford Scott, and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Carson Roller. Miss Scott and Richard Roller will be wed tomorrow at 3:30 o'clock in an open church ceremony at the First Church of God with Rev. S. C. Johnson officiating.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Scott, R. D. 4, Mansfield, and Mr. Roller's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carson Roller, R. D. 2, Mansfield.

Games were the diversion of the evening and the guests surprised Miss Scott with a shower of miscellaneous gifts. Prizes were awarded to Mr. Roller, Charles Hobson and Miss Forest. At a late hour refreshments were served at a table gaily decorated with a large umbrella.

Guests in attendance were from Crestline and Mansfield.

Ruth Chapter Circle Convenes

Ruth Chapter Circle, Order of the Eastern Star, met March 22 at the Masonic Temple. Mrs. Dale Morris and her committee were in charge of the luncheon. The table was appointed with spring flowers.

Mrs. Paul Sherrer presided over the business meeting. Mrs. Ina Lanning was appointed chairman for the April meeting. Bridge was played.

* * *

APRIL SHOWERS—Little Judy Maxwell of 103 Parkwood boulevard, and Peggy Bayer of 560 West Third street, show the latest thing in young ladies' rain wear in bottom picture.. Other models who appeared in the show were Mrs. Joseph Blahnik, Mrs. Huber McCuen and Mrs. H. L. Cramer.

Install New Unit Advisor

At a simple candlelight ceremony Wednesday evening Miss Doris Crane was solemnly installed as advisor of Unit II, Nu Phi Mu sorority. Miss Patricia Welsch was also installed as a new member, and Miss Helene Gilvert received her sorority pin. Miss Loretta Fink, registrar for Nu Phi Mu, conducted the ceremonies.

Before the installation ceremonies Miss Pat Steele conducted the business meeting. Miss Dorothy Normant, chairman of the social committee, passed the Unit birthday box. Mrs. James Sinerson, historian, displayed the scrapbook which gives the complete history of Unit II since the granting of the charter in 1946.

After the installation ceremonies a social hour was held. The hostesses, Misses Pat and Charlene Steele, served a buffet lunch. The table was decorated with bunnies and Easter eggs.

On April 13 the next regular meeting will take place at the home of Miss Helen Comisford, Gerke avenue.

Bit and Spur Club Participates In Central Ohio Association

BIT AND SPUR CLUB members of Mansfield were in attendance at the annual meeting of the Central Ohio Saddle Horse Association held last evening at the Richland Recreation. Dinner was served at long tables to more than 150 representatives of the 40 participating saddle clubs.

This association, which was formed four years ago, is composed of clubs from large and small cities in the central part of the state. Included in the roster are two clubs from Ashland, Mt. Gilead, Galion, New London, Lodi, Norwalk, Milan, Wooster, Willard and Mansfield.

Twenty of the 59 members of the local club were in attendance.

This is the first time the association has convened in Mansfield. Previous sessions have taken place in Smithville.

Presiding as chairman was Robert D. Groh of Dover. Toastmaster was Edward Mills of Wooster.

During the annual business session Glenn Marshall of Massillon was elected president for the coming year. Dancing concluded the evening's program.

Members of the Bit and Spur Club will hold their election of officers next Thursday evening at Johns park pavilion, according to the president, Clarence Williams.

Mansfielders desiring to attend the lecture luncheon being sponsored by the Mansfield Garden Center Tuesday, March 29, at the Sky Club are to contact Mrs. R. H. Ross, 5695-4 or Mrs. George Holland, 4399-1 by tomorrow. Guest speaker for this open meeting will be Arnold Davis, director of the Cleveland Garden Center, who will use as his topic, "Gardening as a Hobby". Luncheon is scheduled for 1 p. m.

Honor Twins With Nuptial Showers

Sixteen friends complimented Mrs. Frank Mastandrea, the former Kathleen Nethero, and Miss Katherine Nethero, last evening with a crystal and linen shower, respectively. Mrs. R. B. Schoenman and Miss Ann Schoenman, 632 Yale drive were hostesses for the affair.

Games were the diversion of the evening with prizes being awarded to Miss Katherine Nethero and Mrs. Harry Roberts, who prestned it to Mrs. Mastandrea.

The twins received their gifts from a white decorated umbrella. Pastel shaded satin streamers came from each spoke of the umbrella and tied to a gift.

Refreshments were served buffet style at a late hour from a table centered with an arrangement of spring flowers. White tapers lighted the table.

Miss Nethero is the bride-elect of Raymond Mastandrea, the couple will exchange nuptial vows during mid summer.

Horoscope

For Saturday, March 26
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

IN spite of a delayed, static or frustrated situation, which at first glance seems impossible and futile, a sudden turn of events is bound to bring about a welcome explosion to the crystallized or stagnant state of affairs. A flash of ingenuity, creative or inventive genius, or an unpredictable intervention from unforeseen sources, may put a fresh and optimistic complexion to discouraging and depressing circumstances. The timely appearance of new friends, the offer of aid from unfamiliar interests, a change of plans or techniques, may be the open sesame to thrilling denouement in a hopeless or thwarted condition.

For the Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is, are urged to take heart in a most depressed, gloomy or static state of affairs, since there is sight of a sudden and thrilling turn in affairs in which the shadows recede into the dim distance of oblivion. It may be a novel idea, a reconstructed plan, a stroke of genius, to turn the tide. Or a timely gesture from an unexpected friend, even of a romantic attachment, a fresh slant or revamped program, with dynamic switch from congested routines, may do the trick. Audacity and innovation win out.

A child born on this day may have rare talents for tackling innovation, fresh techniques or tactics, in face of stagnation and frustration.

Use a small amount of rice pudding by stretching it with dried apricots; garnish with a little whipped evaporated milk or cream, if desired.

Petitions Protest Cut In VA

DAV Object to Reduced Facilities

Circulation of petitions has been started by Disabled American Veterans, Chapter 21, to urge Congress and the Veterans' Administration not to cut VA hospital beds by 16,000 as ordered recently in Washington.

Adj. Robert E. O'Leary said the merger of VA hospitals with other agencies such as proposed by the Hoover commission report was a "breach of faith with the vets."

He said petitions will be circulated all over the nation by DAV chapters.

An order to curtail the hospital building program was issued by President Truman, the VA said.

A bulletin issued by the DAV said the "cost of rehabilitating our disabled veterans is a part of the cost of the war, and the curtailment of facilities for doing so would hamper this rehabilitation."

The petitions, when filled out, will be sent to congressmen, the President, and the Veterans' Administration, O'Leady said.

Scholastic Test Blanks Order Readied

Blanks for the preliminary tests among Senior and Junior high students to be held on April 8, are being ordered by J. C. Stout of the Senior faculty.

Any student in the upper 25 per cent scholarship bracket may take the tests which are a preliminary to the district examinations at Wooster on May 7, Stout said.

Blanks will be ordered from the Ohio Scholarship Tests project of the state department of education.

Tests may be taken in any two of the following subjects: English, biology, chemistry, physics, first year algebra, advanced algebra, plain geometry, American history, world history, senior social studies, first and second year Latin, French and Spanish, bookkeeping, general and for junior high pupils; general science.

Indiana Firm Purchases New Colter As Aid to Farmers

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A factory in Indiana is almost, but not quite, beating swords into plowshares.

This factory made surgical instruments for the army and navy during the war. Now, using the same equipment, it is building colters, part of a plow.

The (Frank Manufacturing) company hopes to turn out the best colter ever made. It even hopes this colter will make it possible to open new areas of the world to agriculture.

A colter is either a disc or a long steel finger that is attached to a moldboard plow. It runs ahead of the plow, digging a groove into the ground. The purpose of the colter is to break the ground and make it easier for the plow.

Farmers who swear save some of their choicest swear-words for a colter that doesn't operate smoothly.

Paul Stoner, of Valparaiso, Ind., designed and built a disc colter. It was so good that many of his neighbors came and asked to have one made.

The Mentone concern heard about Stoner's colter in 1945. It started building the colter experimentally and found that a lot of the machinery that had been used for making surgical instruments was adaptable to making colters.

Three Grindstones Mark Life for Humans–Duty, Doubt and Desire

THE POOR man's philosopher says:

Life, for every man, has three grindstones.

They chafe him more as he grows older, less sure of himself and less innocent. They rub him deeper as he turns to the patterns of an unhappy past to guide him toward what he hopes is a fairer future.

The three grindstones of life, common to all men, are those of duty, doubt and desire:

1. A man's growing sense of responsibility as he takes over the duties of maturity.

(He knows, if he is a rug salesman, that he can't make a down payment on his boy's college education — the boy who is never to suffer as he did—unless he can sell an off-color green carpet to a lady who wanted an off-blue color, but who isn't quite sure what that is.)

2—The second grindstone is his developing feeling, as he ages, of a sense of physical insufficiency to deal with the problems his new position requires.

(All his life he wanted to be promoted to a certain job. Now that he has it he is uncertain and doesn't know what to do with it. He is tired. The boss he complained about is no longer there. He is on top and has nobody to blame but himself. He feels the fresher, younger man under him is trying to get his job. And he doubts in his heart whether he has the courage, strength or brains to whip his competition. There is fear in his failing heart.)

★

3 — The third grindstone is man's inextinguishable desire to kick up his heels at any age in any climate—and have fun.

(Self-pleasure becomes an oppressive duty to men who are victims of the first two grindstones of life. They think that only by becoming roosters again can they get rid of the first two grindstones around their necks.)

But there are always people a man knows who are watching to see that he wears the three grindstones politely in public. He feels there are men who want to take his place, men who want the prestige of position but who have no idea of the behind-the-throat scars with which the grindstones of life will mark them forever.

A man may twist, dodge, turn and evade as he will. But if he is an aspiring man he can't dislodge those grindstones he's tied to.

They are the penalty of leadership in our generation and our civilization (western). And if few men in our era really seek to be leaders, it is because they can't take en masse these grindstones all men face separately.

G. B. Shaw Furnishes Answer to Infinitive Splitting Question

IN "PLAIN WORDS" officer Ernest Gowers quotes the letter G. Bernard Shaw sent to the august London Times on the matter of split infinitives.

"There is a busybody on your staff who devotes a lot of his time to checking split infinitives. Every good literary craftsman splits infinitives when the sense demands it. I call for the immediate dismissal of this pedant. It is of no consequence whether he decides to go quickly or quickly to go or to quickly go. The important thing is that he go at once."

Milton Rubin's tip to diplomats: "In the atomic age the world can not be divided by halves. It can only be divided by splinters."

Sallies in Our Alley: Noel Toy, the Chinese Doll (who married Col. Carlton Young, USA), was being interviewed. . . . "How," asked the scribe, "did he propose?" . . . "He merely said," replied Noel, " 'There are just two things I'd like to say to you, baby. Good Night and Good Morning!' " . . . Jos. Wood Krutch, the critic for The Nation, nifties that playwright Clifford Odets' "Big Knife-ing" of Hollywood is a case of "biting the hand that overfeeds you."

Billy Gwan handed us this on one of his Ruby Foo menus: Headlines: "Kenneth Ryan Surrenders." "Clendenin Ryan Stops Talking," "Detective Ryan Quits Force."

"The city news," Billy observed, "is Comin' Thru the Ryan!"

From a movie col'm: "Diana Lynn has cooled on her romance With Stass Reed."

Well, let's hope so! Diana just got back from her honeymoon with architect John Lindsay.

Cast of Characters: The midtown chiropractor (gets $25 a visit) who utilizes a food-testing device when he dines out. Swings a pendulum-shaped gadget over his wrist—then over his food. Won't eat it unless the vibrations coincide. . . . Tomorrow's Orsons and Tallulahs displaying their "stuff" at the Astor pharmacy.

The disdainful waiter at a 49th Street beanery. When he's not satisfied with the tip he flings it across the room scornfully. They can't fire him as he's part owner. . . . Most of the local baby-sitters, who are faded stage favorites.

The well-known bandleader, who has 32 wigs—a different one for each day in the month. Plus an extra—to show neighbors he needs a hair trim.

Big Town Vignette: Gene Fowler, whose book about ex-Mayor Walker got a hearty reception, was complimented on the great research job he'd done. . . . "It must have been easy for you," a colleague remarked, "since you were an old pal of Jim's. . . . "It's never easy," said Fowler grimly, "digging up sad memories."

Appleseed Scout Area Among Best

Regional Executive Lauds Efficiency

The Johnny Appleseed Scout area is in the top 15 per cent of Scouting councils in a four-state area in efficiency and programs offered, Kenneth A. Connelly, regional deputy Scout executive, told the Johnny Appleseed executive council last night at Scout headquarters.

Connelly, operating out of the four-state Fourth Region Scout headquarters in Cincinnati, is in Mansfield for the annual charter review of this Scout area.

The review or inspection showed the Johnny Appleseed area operates on fewer dollars per Scout, and offers a wider program for its dollars than the majority of the Scout areas in this region.

Connelly went to the area Scout's Camp Avery Hand Junior yesterday and said the area was "indeed fortunate to have such a fine camp."

Members of the area executive council meeting with Connelly were W. C. Mead, president; Harold Arlin, vice president; Paul Stephens, chairman of camping committee; Roger Godfrey chairman of building committee; A. A. Remy, Crestline district commissioner; M. V. Snyder, Crestline committee chairman; William Parsons, Ashland committee chairman; and Morten Frankel, Mansfield.

Pair Charged After Fight

Two Mansfield men were held without bond in city jail today on assault and battery charges growing out of a fight at 97 East Sixth street at 5:15 this morning.

Police identified the pair as Sterling Scarborough, 33, 56 East Sixth street, and William Avery, 41, of 274½ North Franklin avenue. Warrant for their arrest was signed by Thomas J. Scott of Ashland.

Police said other charges will be filed against the men later today following further investigation of the case. Police declined to say what the additional charges would be.

Tire Rims Taken

Theft of two white tire rims from the car of Mrs. R. L. Blackford, 112 Louis street, was reported to sheriff's deputies last night. Mrs. Blackford told deputies the rims were taken either at Johnny Appleseed junior high or while her car was parked at her home.

List of Idle Up to 1,400

City OSES Office Reports Increase

The number of persons seeking jobs through the Ohio State Employment office here has increased to approximately 1,400, C. W. Handley, manager of the office, said today.

This figure represents an increase of 300 over the approximately 1,100 workers seeking positions through the office at the beginning of February. By the end of February more Mansfielders were claiming unemployment benefits than at any time since July, 1946.

However, Handley pointed out the present number of job seekers represents only about five per cent of the total number of persons employed in the Mansfield area.

On the other hand, not all persons laid off by Mansfield concerns during the past few weeks are seeking jobs through the office here. Some have returned to their homes in other states, and others are applying at other offices in the area, Handley said.

Handley said the office has a few openings in Mansfield for persons with special training but there are almost no manufacturing jobs available. Among the jobs listed at the office are insurance and other salesmen, stenographers, a supervisor of janitors, and housework for women.

Of the total number of job seekers only about 20 per cent are women, Handley said.

He said although placements so far this month are lower than usual, the office already has placed approximately 130 persons.

Residents Set to Flee

Flood Water Rushes Through Levee Gap

PORT ALLEN, La. — (UP) — Flood waters swirling through a wide break in a Mississippi river levee today threatened to force complete evacuation of 1,000 to 1,500 residents of a bayou fishing settlement west of here.

At the same time, the Red Cross ordered 600 refugees spending the night in shelters here moved across the river to Baton Rouge when water crept into the outskirts of town.

Brig. Gen. Raymond Huff, Louisiana's adjutant general and coordinator of disaster relief, ordered a helicopter reconnaissance of the 40-square mile bayou area to begin at dawn.

He said the flood waters are now within nine miles of the thick cluster of fishing villages on the shores of Grosse Tete bayou.

It may be necessary for the residents to flee their homes before they are completely cut off.

Working in water three to five feet deep, the flood fighters used giant bulldozers to shove great gobs of mud and gravel up against a fence of posts and barbed wire to form a semicircular earthen bank around the 700-foot hole in the levee.

They were working against time. The swirling river was biting great chunks out of the levee just below the break, threatening to widen the crevasse to 1,000 feet.

Army engineers said that if a second break comes before nightfall all their work may be swept away.

Already, they estimated, water is roaring through the hole at a rate of 22 miles per hour and 3,600,000 gallons per minutes.

Mansfielder Voted Post

Carl H. Stander, of 497 Marion avenue, was elected vice president yesterday of the Ohio Shorthorn Breeders' association at a meeting in connection with Farm and Home Week at Columbus.

Re-elected president was Walter E. Watt, of Cleveland, while Ned W. Place, Wapakoneta, was named secretary-treasurer.

Farm and Home Week officials reported attendance reached 8,889 last night. M. L. Wilson extension director of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, told a Farm and Home audience last night that Ohio was the leading family farm state.

"In size of farms, in kind of farm homes, in the type of people coming from these homes, there is something unique about Ohio farming. Ohio is generally regarded as the nation's leading family farm state."

W. Jefferson Stricken at 92

William O. Jefferson, 92, 465 Springmill street, died at General hospital this morning after an extended illness.

Born Dec. 1, 1856 in Erie county, Mr. Jefferson had lived most of his life in Mansfield. For a number of years in his early life he was associated with the Albert F. Remy company and later operated a grocery store on Glessner avenue.

Mr. Jefferson was a member of the First Presbyterian church. Rev. David N. Roller, pastor of that church, will officiate at services Monday at 10 a. m. at the Finefrock funeral home. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

A sister, Mrs. E. H. Bargus of East Townsend, Ohio, and several nieces and nephews are the only survivors.

Friends may call at the funeral home.

Parents Say Boy Truant Lacks Clothes

Two grim-faced parents told juvenile court their 'teen-aged son has been truant from school because he did not have proper clothing.

Neither of them, they said, has been able to find work. The boy was in court yesterday afternoon, accused of truancy. The family is on relief.

The boy was given a dollar to obtain a haircut and juvenile officer Ralph W. Carroll said an attempt was being made to obtain clothing for the youngster.

The case was continued after the court told the boy he must attend school regularly after he gets proper clothing and a haircut.

★

TEST TIME—

This is the time for tests in Mansfield's junior high schools. Now ninth grade pupils are being given "Kuder Preference" tests to help them choose their studies for next year at Senior high school. Eighth grade pupils will register for next year's ninth grade classes the first of the week. Intelligence tests have just been completed. It's all routine to junior high principals but for the pupils who have never had the tests, it's an interesting extra-curricular activity.

Father Detained For Non-Support

Estil Hoskins, 25, of Shelby, R. D. 3, was held in the county jail today for juvenile court on charges of not making support payments for his three children.

Court records show that on Jan. 20, 1948 he was given a 90-day sentence in the county jail, suspended on condition he pay $25 per week for support of the children.

Fourth Shakeup Revealed

Vasilevsky Takes Over

MOSCOW — (UP) — Marshal Alexander M. Vasilevsky succeeded Marshal Nikolai A. Bulganin as boss of Russia's armed forces today in another reshuffle of the Soviet Union's ruling hierarchy.

All Moscow newspapers carried on their back pages a brief announcement that the presidium of the supreme Soviet has relieved Bulganin of his duties as minister of the armed forces and appointed his deputy, Vasilevsky, to succeed him.

(Radio Moscow, heard in London, referred to Bulganin as a deputy premier, indicating that he retains that post in the Soviet government.

He also was believed to have remained a member of the powerful, policy-making politburo.

FOURTH CHANGE

The goateed, 54-year-old Bulganin is the fourth deputy premier and politburo member to be relieved of departmental duties within the past three weeks.

Two others, V. M. Molotov and A. I. Mikoyan, were relieved March 4 as foreign minister and foreign trade minister respectively. Both remained in the government as deputy premiers and kept the politburo membership.

Then, on March 14, it was announced that Nikolai A. Voznesensky had been relieved both as deputy premier and as chairman of the state planning commission. Nothing was said about his membership in the politburo.

However, Voznesensky was the only recent member of the politburo not elected a delegate to the all - union Komosol (young communist league) congress at a meeting of the Moscow Komosol yesterday.

All 12 other members, including Stalin, Bulganin, Molotov and Kikoyan, were elected delegates.

DeMolay To Give Play

Plans for the forthcoming play to be given by the Baku chapter, Order of DeMolay moved along at a rapid pace last night as the group met at the Grotto hall.

Various committees assigned to the play gave their reports and try outs under the play's director, Mrs. John E. Fisher, were begun. The play, a one-act comedy, will be given along with a variety show by the DeMolay and the Rainbow Girls sometime in May.

A softball team was organized at the meeting and James Dickson was appointed as captain.

A hayride, to be held later in the spring, was planned and Al Snyder, assisted by James Dickson and James Lorentz, took over the job of making arrangements for the affair.

Master Councilor Carl E. Pfeifer announced the initiatory degree practice would be held Sunday at 1 p. m. in the Grotto hall.

At the next meeting, April 14, the initiation and inspection will be held.

Re-open Hotel Dining Spot

Featuring southern-fried chicken, the DeSoto restaurant in the DeSoto hotel, 18 East Third street, is re-opening tomorrow under the management of its two partner-chefs Albert Leo Ashley and Mac P. Davis.

The partners have been cooking together for the last 19 years, mostly south of the Mason-Dixon line.

The restaurant has a main dining room and two private rooms available for organizations' banquets or afternoon and evening social gatherings.

Operating now with 15 employes, the restaurant will eventually employ 20 men and women.

Held By Sheriff

Richard Dinger, 22, of 160 Ashland road, was arrested by sheriff's deputies yesterday on an Ashland county paternity charge. Dinger has been turned over to Ashland county Sheriff M. F. Rickenbrod.

Weekly Wages For Ohioans Boosted

COLUMBUS —(UP)—The average weekly earnings of workers in Ohio averaged $55.73 in January, a fraction higher than the December mark, the Ohio State university Bureau of Business Research reported today.

The report said that January earnings were six per cent higher than a year ago on the basis of reports from 5,740 Ohio firms.

Thief Likes Stoves

IRONTON, O. — (UP) — Police are looking for an unusually cold thief who took three old-fashioned pot-bellied stoves from two rural schools in just a few days despite mild winter weather.

50 Report For Try-outs

Fifty potential Mansfield thespians tried out for parts in the forthcoming Little Theater production at the common pleas courtroom last night, Earl Heasley, director, said today.

From among that group between 15 and 20 signed up as new members of the organization Heasley said. The try-outs were for the final play of the season, "Western Union, Please", which will be presented to Mansfield at the John Simpson auditorium on May 11 and 12, with a student night on May 10.

Rehearsals for the play will be started as soon as Heasley picks out the cast. That should be about April 1, he said.

Attack Fatal To Salesman

Harlie Dale Bantum, 63, a candy salesman, died unexpectedly about 9 a. m. today after suffering a heart attack at Marion and Vennum avenues. He lived at 544 Park avenue west.

Mr. Bantum, employed by Painter's, Inc., was making a call at a market at the Marion-Vennum intersection when he was stricken. The body was taken to the Wolford funeral home. Services had not been arranged early this afternoon.

Surviving are the widow, Maude M., and a daughter, Mrs. C. A. Krening of Chagrin Falls.

Court Approves Fund Transfers

Trustees of two townships were authorized yesterday by Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch to transfer sums from their general funds to their road and bridge funds in accordance with their applications to the court.

Authorized was the transfer of $25,000 by Madison township trustees and $2,000 by Springfield township trustees.

Girl Scouts to Send $135 To Aid National Encampment

The $135.60 collected by Girl Scouts here at the Juliette Lowe birthday party recently will be sent to national headquarters for the national encampment.

The recent leaders' bake sale netted $112 toward a required sum of $500 which Girl Scouts are attempting to raise to buy a movie projector.

These figures were announced at a meeting of the Girl Scout council last night at the Town House. Mrs. William Layton, deputy commissioner, presided in the absence of the commissioner, Mrs. Joy Herbert, and Mrs. P. C. Davis took over the duties of secretary in the absence of Mrs. Tom Ford.

During the meeting Mrs. Charles Orr was appointed chairman of a works planning committee. Members will meet next Tuesday at 9:30 a. m. at the Town House to discuss plans.

Mrs. Howard Wenning was named chairman of the community service committee to plan county-wide projects which will get under way with the opening of school next fall.

Camp license classes for leaders will be held April 4-22. Dates for summer day camps were announced as follows: intermediates, July 7, 8, 11, 12 and 13; Brownies, July 14, 15, 18, 19 and 20.

Honors Given Area Farmers

Mansfield area farmers were honored Wednesday at Farm and Home Week sessions at Ohio State university in Columbus. The sessions extend through Friday.

Diamond clovers, for 20 years service as 4-H club leaders, were presented to Rex Long, Loudonville, and Frieda Ulrich, Upper Sandusky. West Ruggles of Huron county was singled out as having kept record books for the greatest number of years, 29.

Area farmers were included in the officers and directors elected by Ohio sheep association groups. D. E. Wolfe, Upper Sandusky, was named president of the Ohio Corriedale club; J. L. Fought, Upper Sandusky, and Pearson Linn, Bucyrus, directors of the Ohio Suffolk Breeders' association, and Bryan Rayl, Upper Sandusky, a director of the Ohio Hampshire Sheep

Jobless Rolls Takes 8% Leap

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Unemployment in Ohio was up eight per cent in February but new applications for benefits dropped 16 per cent from the preceding month.

About 132,000 persons sought jobs through the state Bureau of Unemployment Compensation during February.

Buc Administrator Frank J. Collopy said the decrease in new applications indicated that the rise in unemployment was slowing down.

Seasonal influences still were felt on the labor scene but production cut-backs due to a lack of orders was given as the main reason for continuing high unemployment.

LeRoy Pitman Heads Happy Weeders Club

LeRoy Pitman was elected president of the Happy Weeders 4-H club of Ontario at the first meeting held at the home of the adviser, Mrs. L. J. Pitman, Wednesday.

Other new officers of the club include Dale Perry, vice president; Dorothy Fullager, secretary-treasurer; Carol Burger, news reporter, and Keith Hunter and Richard Souder, recreation leaders.

Contempt Citations Asked Against UEW

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Contempt of court citations against 22 members of the CIO United Electrical Workers union were asked today by the strike-disrupted Fawick Airflex company.

The concern, in a petition to be heard today by Common Pleas Judge Arthur H. Day, also asked that the union's local 735 be cited.

Tribunal Upholds New Trial In Loudonville Death Case

The court of appeals has been upheld in ordering a new trial in Ashland common pleas court in an action resulting from the death of Michael Zivkoff, 18-year-old Mansfield soldier and former Senior high athlete.

The Ohio Supreme court today refused to review the case, thus upholding the cout of appeals, which had reversed the Ashland court. The Ashland court had directed a verdict for the Pennsylvania railroad, on grounds of contributory negligence.

Zivkoff and Miss Lois Veach, 16, of Loudonville were killed at the Spring street crossing in Loudonville when his car was struck by a Pennsylvania train.

The high court upheld the district appellate court in reversing the Huron county court of common pleas which had returned a judgment "in the sum of none dollars for compensatory damages and in the sum of $200 punitive damages."

Edward S. Richard had sued E. J. Hunter and Elwood L. and Catherine Holland after he was ejected from a 55-acre farm owned by Hunter. Richard had leased the farm, but he was evicted by the Hollands, who obtained a subsequent lease from Hunter.

The high court, in its ruling, said "a jury verdict expressly denying compensatory damages is an affirmative finding that no actual damages were established, is defective as to an award of punitive damages, and will not authorize a judgment in favor of a plaintiff."

Near-Nude Woman Nabbed In Bucyrus

BUCYRUS — A scantily-clad Marion woman was given a 30 day jail sentence when arraigned Wednesday before Mayor R. L. Hertzer on an intoxication charge.

The woman, who gave her name as Mary Kinsler of 211 Elk avenue, Marion, was found sitting at the bar in a local tavern clad only in a coat and a pair of shoes. She was arrested by police after they had received a report that a near-nude woman had been seen on the city's main street.

The jail sentence was suspended upon the woman's promise to leave Bucyrus immediately. Some discarded clothes held by local police, were provided for the woman's return trip to Marion.

The old bathrobe could be freshen up with a tonic of trim, bound edges made with blanket binding.

McGregor Finds Favor For T-H Law

87 Per Cent Oppose Repeal, Survey Shows

gotiations, to sign a non-communist pledge.

The query on federal aid to schools brought 52 "no" replies for every 100 received, McGregor's report stated.

Groups favoring federal aid to chools included barbers, 86 per ent, and teachers, 81 per cent.

Ninety per cent of the questionaire returns said "No" to the uestion: Do you favor any type f federal legislation placing the nedical and dental profession nd operation of our hospitals nder federal control.

Only 48 per cent favor contination of rent control, according McGregor's report. In the roup were housewives, 52 per ent, school teachers, 60 per nt, labor, 63 per cent, the roup with the highest percentge favoring rent control.

To the question: Do you favor he president's demand that he ave federal control over proluction, 92 per cent said no.

OBJECT TO CONTROL

The highest per centage of "no" replies resulted from the question: Do you favor the president's demands that he have federal control over wages? The percentage of "no" replies was 93.

And 87 per cent said they did not favor government-support-prices regardless of supply and demand. Seventy per cent said they favored repeal of the federal tax on oleomargarine. In that group, 70 per cent of the attorneys and 71 per cent of housewives said they favored repeal of the tax.

To the question: Do you favor the repeal of the veto power in the United Nations even though it might mean severing our relations with Russia, 81 per cent said "yes."

Pointing out that his district might be considered the "Main Street" of the nation, McGregor said the district has approximately 50 per cent urban and 50 per cent rural population. He said the questionnaires went to committeemen and committeewomen of both parties, laborers, farmers, attorneys, barbers, housewives, public office holders, salesmen and educators, and those engaged in business and industry and professional persons, including doctors and dentists.

DEFIES DEATH — Defying medical warnings that use of an anesthetic may prove fatal, Mrs. Julia Brittan, 24, Chicago, is awaiting birth of a baby in June. Last year she was "dead" four minutes on an operating table when her heart stopped beating, and doctors warned her against use of an anesthetic at any future time. —(International).

Possession of Soul Comes First, Evangelist Says

A strong appeal to "possess your souls while there is yet time" was made by Rev. Jack Shuler at evangelistic services at the Johnny Appleseed auditorium last night.

"We should learn the value of our immortal souls from Jesus, who said, 'What shall it profit a man if he should gain the whole world and lose his own soul?' " Rev. Shuler declared.

"Death for the sinner is but a prelude to the judgment and hell," he said. "The death-bed is a poor place to repent. You neither have possession of it nor yourself. The greatest regret of those in hell will be that they rejected Christ.

"If you reject Christ, you will have to make your own defense before Him. He will answer all your excuses from the Book which He will open and you will admit your guilt. By coming to Christ for forgiveness now, He will not condemn you."

J. Stratton Shufelt, song leader, sang "Jesus Stands Ready to Pardon," a spiritual. Les Barnet, organist, played as his selection "Follow, I Will Follow."

Tonight Rev. Shuler will speak on the theme, "Dreams that Come True."

Thieves Try To Take Machine

A cement finishing machine was badly damaged when thieves attempted to remove it from the new No. 4 fire station under construction on Newman street, Contractor Frank Beymer reported to police today.

Police said damage to the machine was estimated at $200. The thieves attempted to lower the machine through a window in the building sometime last night, but were unable to get it through because of its size. The machine was damaged in the attempt.

Police also are investigating an attempted breaking and entering sometime last night at the Funk Coal company, 320 North Diamond street. Several windows were broken but apparently entrance was not gained police said.

DETROIT—(AP)—A labor dispute in a supplier plant idled 16,700 auto workers today, mostly employes of the Chrysler corporation.

Drive Total Hits $40,685

Red Cross campaign funds were several thousands dollars nearer their goal of $48,835 this morning as total receipts reported from headquarters were $40,685 40.

This sum includes $5,783.16 from Shelby, which has a quota or $6,500.

One more precinct, F in the First ward, went tover the top with receipts of $102.25 and a quota of $100. Mrs. J. Arnold Burkhart is chairman.

Five other groups were added to the 100 per cent list: Soldiers' Relief commission, U. S. Bureau of Internal Revenue, Johnson Aquamatic company, Buckeye Storage and Transportation company and the Tappan Stove company.

Says Filibuster Scrap a 'Phony'

DELAWARE — (INS) — National Republican Chairman Hugh D. Scott jr., was quoted today as branding the recent Senate filibuster on civil rights as a "phony."

Scott declared: "I know a phony when I see one! It smells all the way to Blair house. . .If the Democrat leaders had brought up the civil rights program in January they could have broken the back of the filibuater before they were crowded for time . ."

Tyger Boosters Meet Monday On Plans for Relays

Plans for the 18th annual Mansfield Relays April 22 and 23 at Stadium field will be up for discussion at a meeting of the Tyger booster club Monday at 7:30 at the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

For the first time since the Relays were orginated in 1927, a civic drive will not be staged to raise funds necessary to stage the country's outstanding high school track and field event. All funds were raised in the big Tyger club drive last fall.

Programs, entry blanks, pamphlets, etc. are being printed and will be mailed to schools in five states within the next few days. Harry Mehock, Relays director, looks for nearly a 100 schools at participate in this year's event.

All officers, directors and members of the advisory committee have been asked to attend Monday's meeting.

Eddleman Top Big 9 Cager

CHAMPAIGN Ill. — (AP) — Dwight (Dike) Eddleman, captain of Illinois' 1948-49 western conference basketball champions, has been named the most valuable player in the big nine conference.

The rangy football-basketball track star won the top big nine honor in a vote by western conference coaches, officials, commissioner Kenneth (Tug) Wilson, and Arch Ward and Wilfrid Smith of the Chicago Tribune. The Tribune sponsors the annual ward.

Eddleman finished the 22 games of Illinois' regular 1948-49 season with 301 points four less than the Illini record set by Andy Phillip in 1943.

Lymper Removed as Tyger Coach

Byelene Is Given Position

By CHARLEY STINE

Jimmy Lymper, who directed Mansfield to four straight district championships, was today removed as Senior high baseball coach.

In making the announcement, Athletic Director Augie Morningstar said that Mike Byelene, assistant baseball coach last year, will take over the post.

Avoiding the shifting of athletic personnel in the schools was the reason given by Morningstar for the shift

"If Lymper coached baseball, he would have to transfer back and forth between Senior high and Johnny Appleseed and we would have to send someone to the junior high to replace him.

Lymper will continue in charge of all sports at Appleseed.

Lymper commuted between Appleseed and Senior high while coaching baseball last spring. Robert Y. Davis, Appleseed teacher, was hired at the time to handle the junior high track team.

Meanwhile, Byelene called the first diamond practice of the season for this afternoon at Stadium field.

Byelene, former Purdue athlete, assumes the reins of a baseball team which is touted as one of the favorites to win the 1949 Ohio Class A championship. With regulars back at seven positions, the team rates as the best ever to represent Senior high school.

HEADS HILL STAFF

Lou Gregorio, who pitched two no-hit games in district play last year, again heads the mound staff while Joe Miller, outstanding pro candidate, is the catcher. The squad will be bolstered by several players who performed for the Mansfield American Legion team which was defeated in the state finals last year.

Lymper's team was beaten by Columbus Central, 5 to 4, in the first round of the regional tourney last year.

Other spring sport coaching assignments will remain the same. Fred Staub will continue with tennis, V. H. Oberlander with golf and Harry Mehock with track, assisted by Paul Snyder. Vern Hoffman will handle the intramural program.

No plans for sophomore baseball have been made pending the completion of the sports budget.

Byelene came here a year ago as assistant coach of baseball, football and basketball. He played Big Ten baseball, track, and football at Purdue. He played with a Massillon American Legion team which went to the state tournament in 1935 and with the Massillon Highways and Portsmouth Amvets semi-pros after getting out of the Army.

Byelene wanted to go into professional ball but was a little too old to start the long trip through the pro ranks after Army service. He was track coach at Portsmouth before coming here.

TOP BALL COACH

Lymper, a Cleveland Indian scout and district baseball tournament manager, came here in the spring of 1944 from Galion. He has been regarded as one of Ohio's best baseball coaches since his teams at Versailles won 61 straight games in the late 1930's. Versailles won 100 of 104 games while Lymper was skipper there.

The short, stocky mentor introduced baseball during his tenure at Galion and advanced the team to the district finals in his second year there.

Senior high did not have a baseball team when Lymper came here in the spring of 1944 but he installed the sport the next year and has led the Tygers to district titles in 1945, '46, '47 and '48.

He has at various times scouted for the St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago Cubs and held a Cub baseball school here in 1947. He served as instructor at three Cleveland Indian tryout camps last summer.

In 1946, Lymper directed Mansfield's summer sandlot baseball program

HOLDS RECORD

On the playing field, Lymper was an all-Big Ten third baseman while playing at the University of Illinois. He holds the all-time Big Ten record for 27 stolen bases in the season of 1930, seven of the thefts being home. He completed his Big Ten career without making a single error in league competition.

Lymper's speed on the basepaths and fancy fielding carried him through three years of pro-ball reaching Class B in 1932. He belonged to Cardinals and New York Giants farm clubs during his career.

Kentucky, Oklahoma Prep For Tournament Finals

SEATTLE, Wash.—(UP)—Final workouts of the Kentucky Wildcats and the Oklahoma Aggies today stressed the fact that their clash in the NCAA basketball tournament finale tomorrow night will be a test of two entirely different systems

The Wildcats were obviously planning to stage a rapid-fire assault on the basket and roll up an impressive victory margin in defense of the crown they won last year.

The Aggies, on the other hand, were scheming to keep the score down, to control the ball, and settle for a victory of any sort—by one point if necessary. But a victory.

And, as the rival fives put the finishing touches on their styles, don't think the coaches association which is considering rules changes in a meeting weren't keeping a close eye on the court. The outcome of this game may settle more than a champion—it may rewrite the rule book.

Meanwhile, rules recommendations were flying at the National Association of Basketball Coaches meeting in downtown Seattle.

The last two minutes of the game seemed to hold strong attraction for the mentors, as nearly every one of the 116 coaches had some plan for cutting down roughness or freezing of the ball.

Ohio Staters Even Up Ball Series, 12-4

COLLEGE STATION, TEX. — (UP) — The Ohio State university baseball team had a 500 average for its current Texas invasion today after trimming the Texas Aggies, 12 to 4, in the first of a three-game series.

The Buckeyes won one game out of a three-game series with the University of Texas earlier in the week.

Pete Perini was master of the situation all afternoon, spacing the Aggies' four hits so effectively they were able to garner only one run during his sox innings—and that a homer by Cliff Lindloff.

Perini won the game for himself and iced the contest in the fifth when he blasted a 360-foot homer over the center field wall with three teammates aboard.

He was retired to the showers then for a well-earned rest and Al Hasselo took over, giving up the other three Aggie runs.

Bob Weygandt collected a double and two singles for the Bucks.

Big Gun in the Aggies' attack was Lindloff who collected a single, double and a home run and batted in three runs.

Hershey Bears Defeat Caps

(By International News Service)

One down and three more playoff series to go before the American hockey league's 1949 Calder cup champions are chosen.

That's the way the standings read today after the Hershey Bears scratched out a 4-3 win over Indianapolis last night and eliminated the caps from the second-place playoffs.

The Cleveland Barons also won a "big" one last night, but it took them into the first overtime game in three years at Cleveland before they eked out a close 6-5 victory over Springfield. The series stands at one win apiece with the final contest slated for tomorrow night in Cleveland.

Zula Kings 5 Battle Galion

GALION — All of the Cleveland Browns will not be at Galion Sunday as scheduled, but at least two of them will. Marion Motley and Horace Gillom are to appear here with the Zula Kings to oppose Chic Skelly's Galion Stars in a 3 p.m. game at the Armory.

Skelly had originally announced the Browns as the opponents, but arrangements fell through.

The Zula Kings are advertised as "the jazz of basketball" and cut their fancy capers while attired in grass skirts. The entire roster is over six-foot in heighth.

Southpaw Lacy Nears Record

DENVER — (AP) — Jim Lacy, the southpaw set shot artist from Loyola of Baltimore, seemed a dead cinch to set a new all time college basketball scoring record as the National Catholic tournament moved into the semi-finals today.

Lacy, covered like a blanket by hustling Jack Brasch still managed to squeeze out 13 points as Loyola defeated Gonzaga of Spokane, Wash., 53-51 in last night's quarter-finals.

This ran his four-year total to 2158, just three points shy of the record held by Brooms Abramovic of Salem college and Lacy has two more games to go.

Two Kegling Meets Set Tomorrow

The final session of the Women's city tournament and the opening of the News-Journal Head Pin joust share the spotlight tomorrow as the Colony bowling alleys celebrate their biggest day of the season.

The 29-day N-J pin carnival is to get under way with the opening of the alleys at 1 p. m. tomorrow and run through April 24. A large entry is expected the first week-end as all bowlers in the city vie for the top spot in early ratings.

DOZEN TEAMS

The Women's tournament—already finished in doubles and singles—will have its swing at 7 p. m. when a dozen teams roll on the topdeck of the alleys. Set to roll tonight are Wilson Auto Sales, Urschel Insurance, Dominion Electric, Penn Auto-Sporting Goods, Larimore Realty, Richland Printing, two teams from Westinghouse and four from Sons of Herman.

Head pin keglers may bowl at any time merely by paying the $1.25 entry fee and indicating their intention to roll in the head pin. Forty cents of the entry fee goes into the prize list fund.

Bowlers may roll twice in the meet, but must pay a separate entry fee each time.

Liscombe Winner Of Hockey Award

NEW YORK — (UP) — Carl Liscombe of the Providence reds is the most valuable player in the American Hockey league today according to a poll taken by the league's press and radio writers.

The writers gave Liscombe 42 points on nine first place votes, four seconds and seven thirds, 15 points better than second place Sid Smith of Pittsburgh. Thus, Liscombe wins the award for the second straight year.

Texas League Grads Spark Cincy Reds To Victory Over Washington Senators

BRADENTON, FLA. — (AP) — Cincinnati fans may see a pair of Texas league graduates holding down the right side of the Redleg infield, come opening day, April 19.

Manager Bucky Walters indicated today second sacker Johnny Lane and first baseman Charley Kress, both Tulsa regulars in 1948, would be his starters.

Both fancy dans afield, Lane and Kress have been turning in such outstanding hitting performances during the current exhibition series that they appear to be far ahead of last year's regulars; second baseman Benny Zientara and Bobby Adams and first sacker Ted Kluszewski.

Kress lined out two doubles yesterday and crossed the plate twice as the Red defeated the Washington Senators 6-4 for the eighth victory in 12 grapefruit league outings.

Red Lively, the outstanding pitcher of the Reds' spring campaign, worked the first six innings and allowed just three hits.

★

Latest Rumor . . .

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF. — (AP) — The "latest" trade rumor in the camp of the New York Giants has Howie Pollet, stylish St. Louis Cardinal lefthander, on the way to the polo grounds.

Pollet would be a welcome addition to Leo Durocher's crew for two reasons, he can pitch and he has been one of the Cards' most effective hurlers against the home run hitting Giants. Outfielder Bobby Thomson is the Giant player involved in the supposed Pollet deal.

★

Streak Stopped . . .

ST. PETERSBURG, FLA. — (AP) — The hitting streak of George Stirnweiss, New York Yankee second baseman, was halted at eight games yesterday.

Stirnweiss failed to get the ball out of the infield in four trips to the plate in the Yanks' 5-0 loss to the Detroit Tigers. The Yanks have managed to score only one run in 30 innings against the Tigers and that marker was unearned.

★

Phils Cut Cards . . .

ST. PETERSBURG, FLA. — (UP) — The Philadelphia Phillies hoped to wrap up their second straight victory in thi area today when they engaged the New York Yankees.

The Phillies swung into town yesterday and cashed in a 5 to 4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in 11 innings.

★

Red Sox Lose Again . . .

SARASOTA, FLA. — (UP) — The Boston Red Sox, not particulary happy over their second straight loss to the Boston Braves, planned to take it out on their Louisville farmhands in a game here today.

The Red Sox traveled to Bradenton yesterday and came away with an 8 to 4 drubbing at the hands of their city rivals. Pitcher Vern Bickford stroked the winner's important blow, a base-clearing triple in the seventh inning.

★

A's In Mass Flight . . .

HAVANA, CUBA — (UP) — The Philadelphia athletics will meet the Havana entry of the Florida international league tonight in the opener of their three-game weekend series. The A's made their first mass air flight yesterday, winging here from their West Palm Beach training base.

VFW Plans Pro Boxing Show April 21 at Madison

Professional boxing will return to Mansfield April 21 when the Veterans of Foreign Wars stage a show at the Madison theater.

The program will be co-sponsored by the newly formed Mohican post of the VFW and the 10th district department of Ohio. In making the announcement today, Thomas T. Posa jr., junior vice-commander of the 10th district, said that all proceeds of the show will go into the 10th district athletic fund.

Rex Reese, former pro boxer who promoted shows in Mansfield several years ago, will serve as matchmaker for the VFW.

Reese will begin lining up the show within the next week. He plans to have five bouts topped by a 10-rounder.

★

Only fight shows in Mansfield at the present are amateur affairs promoted by the Friendly House and 40 et 8 club. The next amateur show is scheduled March 28 at the Colby and Earick showrooms. Ten bouts will be on the card topped by the Don Esbenshade-Dick Butcher middleweight go.

Ohio State Cue Team Is Champion

CHICAGO — (INS) — Ohio State university, led by Beverly Cook's 47 points, has won the "telephonic" women's intercollegiate Pocket Billiard tournament.

Wisconsin, Florida, Rhode Island State, Idaho, Arizona, Purdue, South Dakota State and Minnesota trailed the Buckeyes in that order in the tournament after the achievements of each school had been compared by telephone.

Class A High Big Leaguers Move Into Action

Delphos, Lockland Win 'B' Contests

By FRITZ HOWELL, Ohio AP Sports Editor

COLUMBUS—The big leaguers of Class A move in today in Ohio's high school basketball tournament.

Lockland Wayne's all-Negro quintet and Delphos St. John's parochial crew reached the Class B title round with a couple of sizzling victories in yesterday's semi-finals, assuring a colorful clash for the crown Saturday afternoon.

Today's schedule calls for Hamilton Public (23-1) and Niles (13-9) to trade shots at 2:30 p. m., and Toledo Central Catholic (25-3) and Akron St. Vincent (17-5) to meet at 8 p. m. The winners collide Saturday night for the big title.

All four Class A contenders are bringing big delegations of fans for the crucial contests, but they'll show no more enthusiasm than the shrill-voiced thousands who cheered on the Class B contingent.

Delphos St. John, tall and rugged but not too fast, squelched New Lexington's hopes with a pressing defense and some sharpshootinf from the floor. The 53-37 setback, in which the Catholic contenders led all the way, was only the second in 28 games for the Perry countians. The victory was the 28th in 31 games for Delphos.

FINEST OUTFIT

Lockland Wayne, displaying poise and power and uncanny bursts of speed, looked like one of the finest Class B teams ever in the tourney as it overcame an early deficit and won going away over North Canton, the 1939 champion, by 59 to 38.

It was the second straight year that North Canton had been eliminated in the state semi-finals, threshold to the championship.

In annexing their 31st conquest in 32 starts—their lone loss was to a Class A Hamilton public—the praying Panthers from Lockland made good on 22 of 68 shots from the field, and showed ability to control the ball as they allowed North Canton to fire only 36 times from the court. The Vikings had a nice percentage as they made good on a third of the shots.

Big Leo Bennett, Lockland's center, controlled the ball off both backboards and led the scoring with 17 points on eight field goals and a free throw-all garnered in the final three quarters.

North Canton, hitting on its first three shots from the field, moved into a 6-0 lead in the first two minutes, but was behind 16-14 at the half as Lockland settled down to business. The count was tied at 22-22 midway in the second quarter, but Lockland Wayne had a 32-24 edge at the half, and zoomed up to 38-24 before Canton scored in the third session.

GOOD CONTROL JOB

Delphos St. John did a business-like job against New Lexington, concentrating on ball-control and keeping the pellet away from Bill Wollenburg, high-scoring center of the Perry countians. Wollenburg got only a few shots and was held to 12 points, far under the 28 average he racked up in the regional tourney at Athens.

The parochial quintet moved out to a 9-3 advantage early in the fray and was never headed or tied. Late in the third session New Lexington, with Wollenburg playing practically a lone hand in moving the ball, nudged up to a 23-28 deficit but Tom Brennan, Delphos' fancy forward, put the game on ice with four fielders in a row from the same spot far outside New Lexington's zone defense. Four times Delphos took the ball as its pressing defense kept New Lexington from getting over the center line in 10 seconds, and each time the Catholic boys moved in for a two-pointer.

Yesterday's two sessions drew 11,331 customers—5,829 in the afternoon and 5,502 at night—but today's pair of Class A contests are due to draw near a 15,000 total and put last year's record of 38,000-odd in jeopardy.

Two side attractions took the eye of the fans last night. One was the sportsmanship and gentlemanly conduct of the Lockland Wayne club, the other the fancy stepping and rhythm of the Panthers' five co-ed cheer leaders.

RECITE PRAYER

Before the game the Panthers knelt before their bench and recited the entire Lord's Prayer, then took the court to put on one of the most clean-cut exhibitions in tournament history. And in contrast to the dead-pan seriousness of the other teams, the Lockland lads looked as if they were just having fun. Nothing like them has been seen on the historic coliseum floor since the Waterloo Wonders captured the hearts of the fans, and two straight Class B championships, back in 1934 and 1935.

Defending Champ Splashes Through

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., — (AP) — The 26th annual National Collegiate Athletic association swimming championships found one defending champion safely past his opening hurdle as competition resumed today.

Bill Huesner of northwestern turned in the successful defense in capturing the 1,500 - meter freestyle event in the only final run off last night.

MAT QUEEN—June Byers, Houston's wrestling beauty, will appear in the women's tag team bout during tomorrow's mat show at the armory. She will team with Juanita Banks against Cecilia Blevins and Viola Viann. Two other bouts are scheduled.

Duff Hangs Up Spikes As Ace Buck Thinclad

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Lloyd Duff, most versatile speedster in Ohio state annals, rings down the curtain on a brilliant career this week end when the Scarlet and Gray makes its final indoor appearance at the Purdue relays.

Larry Snyder's Scarlet and Gray thinclads, who are pitted against the midwest's top collegiate competition, are entered in the mile and two mile relays. The Buckeye quartet of Duff, Mark Whitaker, Harry Cogswell, and Mal Whitfield is favored to repeat its triumph of the Chicago relays.

Ohio State's foursome of Ed Reily, Frank D'Arcy, Don Washington and Whitfield are slated to give Michigan State's mighty crew a tough battle for team honors in the two-mile relay

In addition to running a relay leg, Duff will compete in the high hurdles and is expected to walk away with scoring honors. Johnny Murphy, Western Conference high jump champ, rates as a strong contender in his specialty.

Coach Snyder has announced an outdoor track schedule which finds the Buckeyes opening against Purdue in Columbus April 23 The following week Ohio State will be represented either at the Drake or Penn relays. Michigan State's powerful cinder squad serves as the Bucks second home test May 7th.

Ohio State tangles with Wisconsin, Indiana and Northwestern in a quadrangle meet at Evanston, Illinois May 14 and then heads for the Western Conference championships at Evanston May 20 and 21. The outdoor season comes to a close when Michigan's tracksters invade the Buckeye stadium May 25.

WFIN Airs Games

All state basketball tournament games are being broadcast over WFIN and WFIN-FM, Findlay. The station is at 1330 kilocycles and 100.5 megacycles on FM.

Lou's Two Homers Win For Indians

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif.—(INS)—Lyman Linde will be on the hill tonight in San Francisco when the Cleveland Indians, finally back on the victory trail, match bats with the San Francisco Seals.

Mike Garcia, Mexican rookie, also is expected to see some action on the mound.

The Indians yesterday blasted their way out of the rut which has seen them lose four straight games by clubbing the Chicago Cubs, 7-4, in Los Angeles—thanks to a guy named Lou Boudreau.

STEALS THE SHOW

Manager Lou's two home runs, a double and four runs batted in stole the show from ageless Satchell Paige, who turned in his usual effective job in a three-inning mound stint.

The Cubs took a 2-0 lead in the fourth frame while Lefty Frank Papish was on the mound. The Indians tied it up, however, with one run in the fourth and another in the sixth. Al Rosen put the Redskins in the lead, 3-2, with a pinch homer in the seventh.

Chicago tied it up again in the last of the seventh, but Boudreau slammed the first pitch off Jesse Dobernic into left field for a home run to give the Tribe a 4-3 edge. His four-base wallop in the ninth gave the Indians two more runs.

The manager-shortstop's three hits hiked his spring batting average to .571. He has collected 12 hits in 21 times at bat in the few games in which he has appeared.

Ol' Satchmo worked the first three cantos for the world champions and made it look like a simple job. He allowed one hit, a single by Bob Scheffing, and walked none.

SIX MISS ZONE

Only two of Satch's pitches were outside the strike zone in the first inning. Four missed the plate in the second and none in the third Two balls were hit out of the infield.

Meanwhile, the Indians could manage to get only one bingle off Bob Rush, 22-year-old right-hander. That hit was an infield single by First Baseman Mickey Vernon.

Yuncker's Lead Cut In 'B' Loop

Yuncker's held top spot in the Commercial B league today but only by a single game after the onslaught of Dearman's Transportation last night. With every man on the team above 550, Dearman's easily racked up three straight wins over the Lions club, while Yuncker's was battling to beat Liederkranz twice. Dearman's had a 1021 third game.

In the individual brackets, four men went over the 600 honor mark. Dick Adams fired 246-177 - 210 -- 633 for Zitzer's while Nick Weber counted 213-203-214--630 for Liederkranz. Jack Hanrahan had the top single game, 252, and a 621 total for Mansfield Rug while John Waldman wrote a 604 score under the Lions club.

The usually power-packed duo of Art and Bob Hilborn was far down the list with scores of 538 and 530. Art had rolled 690 the night before.

L. Haley rolled a 591 score and seven men were congregated in the 580's. Farrell Hipp, Yuncker's counted 589; Roy Vaughn, Zitzer's, racked up 587; Jim Villella, Rose Bowl, had 585; George Condos, Lions, Ed Campbell and Darrell McCullough, Dearman's, 584; and Harold Freese, Dearman's, 583.

★

Nine bowlers in the Women's Commercial A league went over the 500 hump with Donna Schuster setting the pace with a respectable 567. Donna had games of 198-226-143 to lead the first place Ohio Sport Center team to a sweep over Yuncker's

Lena Aston, Safety Cabs, had the top single game, 230, and the second best series, 563 Others on the women's honor roll included: Sue Humphrey, Sport Center, 548; Evelyn Marshman, Lemley's Cleaners, 538; Marty Dye, Outlet Furs, 524; Lil LeMunyon, P.D's Bar, 523; Mary Dintamin, City News, 512; Garnet Karl, Richland Printing, 510; and Helen Wilhelm, Lemley Cleaners, 504.

Mrs. Marshman, the city tournament champion, got her 538 the hard way. She started out with 118 and then tossed 201 and 219.

★

Helen McCracken of Tappan 1 led Women's Industrial league bowlers with a 465 pin count. Irma Kunz, Dominion Electric, had 457; Betty Gerrell, Tappan 1, 439; Eileen Miller, Westinghouse 1, 427; and M. Jameson, Dominion Electric, 424.

★

John Mabee paced Tappan Stove bowlers with 542. J. Valentine, and C. Donnan, 537; Jim LeMunyon, 535; and Virgil Shaeffer, 533, and Sels Michalski, 530

Hula Pahls tossed a 427 for Hughes Hardware to lead the Amvets Auxiliary Margie Fox, Brandenburg's, had 422, and Virginia Gadfield, 419.

Whisler Inks Grid Contract

JACKSON — (AP) — Kermit Daugherty, superintendent of schools, said today he had signed Joe Whisler, Ohio State university fullback, as Jackson high school's next football coach.

Whisler, who finishes at OSU this spring, will take-over next fall.

Daugherty said another star, Howard Teifke of Fremont, probably will be signed as head basketball coach and assistant football coach in the next few days. Teifke was graduated last week

Whisler also will be assistant basketball coach.

Four Junior Church Tilts Set Saturday

St. Paul's has a chance to go into undisputed possession of first place in the Junior Church basketball league tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. at the YMCA.

St. Paul's is tied with First Christian for the lead with six victories in as many starts. The Christians tangle with third-place St. Paul's at 3 p. m.

Park Avenue Baptist opens the program against Central Methodist while First Methodist plays St. Paul's in the second clash. First Lutheran and Grace Gospel play the finale. First Presbyterian draws a bye.

Fox Hunters Set One More

The Richland county fox hunters association which had announced its final drive of the season last Saturday will be back tomorrow "with just one more."

The hunt will be an experimental one, Harold Snyder, president of the organization, announced today. The hunters will try out several new types of fox hunting, Snyder said.

Hunters will assemble for the drive at 11:30 a. m. at Little Washington. First circle will begin at noon. Some circles will be run without noise while others will be started with a siren instead of bombs. Only small sections will be hunted tomorrow.

Finals Saturday

CIRCLEVILLE — (AP) — Finals of the Ohio American Legion basketball tournament will be held here Saturday, with teams from East Liverpool, Springfield, Portsmouth and Cuyahoga Falls competing.

Horse Players Open Hunt For Outsiders

— Longshot players began a last frantic hunt today for something to beat the red hot favorite Cromwell in Saturday's Grand National. History gave them hope.

Three 100 to 1 outsiders have captured jumping's richest prize in the last 20 races.

During that same period two winners have paid off at 50 to 1 and four others at 25 to 1 or better.

Against those prices the 5 to 1 odds on Cromwell looked pretty puny.

Of the 43 probable starters two will try to export the $37,868 first prize to the United States this year.

They are Caddie II, who runs for Paul Mellon, the Washington financier; and Replica, sent here by Richard K. Mellon, Paul's cousin from Ligonier, Pa. The books are offering 50 to 1 and up against both.

The best run Americans have had for their money since the war was in 1947 when Refugio, owned by Mrs. Frank Adams of Middleburg, Va., jogged home seventh.

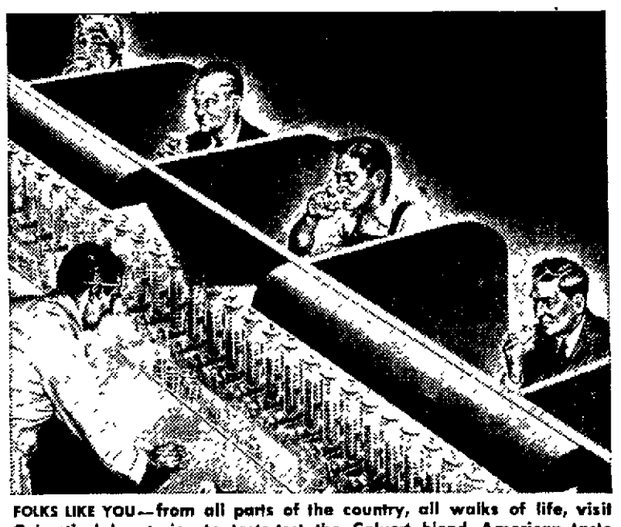
EXCLUSIVE! CALVERT'S BETTER TASTE APPROVED!



FOLKS LIKE YOU—from all parts of the country, all walks of life, visit Calvert's laboratories to taste-test the Calvert blend. American taste prefers blended whiskey that's made only from the finest rye, corn and barley malt—and that's Calvert!

Tests by "Consumer Jury" Determine Taste of Calvert Blend!

No Wonder Thousands Everywhere Have Switched to Calvert Reserve!

Month after month, year after year, people from all over America taste test blends made from Calvert's stocks of fine whiskies and spirits, in the laboratories of Calvert's modern distilleries in Louisville, Ky., and Baltimore, Md.

You see, Calvert believes that no one "expert" taste tester or group of experts can say what tastes best. So Calvert asks the American public—a "Consumer Jury" of thousands of folks just like you—to tell us what taste it likes.

Again and again, this "Consumer Jury" has chosen the kind of whiskey the average American prefers—and Calvert is blended accordingly. That's why Calvert is lighter, milder—tastes better every time!

Consumer taste-testing first determined the taste of the Calvert you buy today. Continuous consumer testing is Calvert's way of keeping Calvert Reserve the whiskey most palatable to the most people!

"Switch to Calvert" Now Nation-wide Buy-Word

Ask a man who's switched to Calvert why he's switched. What he'll tell you will add up to better taste—as it does with these "switchers" below.

SIDNEY D. NEWHOUSE, neckwear manufacturer of Los angeles, Calif., has switched to Calvert because "it's the perfect drink for a moderate man—lighter, better tasting."

ROLAND J. THOMPSON, of Atlantic City, N. J., has switched to Calvert because "I'm sold on Calvert's fine quality. Calvert Reserve always has that smooth, expensive taste!"

FLORIAN ZA BACH, orchestra leader, of Chicago, Ill., has switched to Calvert because "I've found you can always trust Calvert for a tastier drink. It's always mild and mellow!"

How To Be a Whiskey Expert in 60 Seconds

Have a friend (or favorite barman) pour a sip of Calvert Reserve into one glass, and an equal amount of any other whiskey (regardless of price) in another glass —without telling you which is which.

Now—taste one whiskey—critically. Then, after thirty seconds, taste the other whiskey in the same analytical way. After comparing smoothness, flavor, bouquet, freedom from bite or burn, pick the whiskey you really prefer.

We predict you'll pick Calvert Reserve!
